PARIS-TO-INDIA FLIGHT ENDED BY DISASTER

GAUTHIER HAD NO AUTHORITY SENATOR SAYS

Letter of Introduction Mentioned Neither Power Nor Credentials

Senator Bostock Before Royal Commission on Coast Visit

Senator H. A. Bostock gave to John A. Gauthier an ordinary business letter of introduction in which the word credentials was not mentioned, and gave him no warning that large powers were being conferred upon him, the Senator said at a resumed sitting of the Royal Commission investigating liquor charges before Mr. Justice Morrison this morning. The Gauthier letter as quoted in the Gauthier affidavit was different from the one the Senator wrote, he told the commissioners. "You designate that as what?" said Mr. H. D. Twigg, reading the letter from the Gauthier affidavit. "As not the letter I gave him," replied the Senator.

At the main hearing it was decided to submit a series of questions to the Senator regarding the letter of introduction which played a prominent part in the investigation. The visit of the Senator to the Coast was seized upon as an opportunity to hear his evidence personally.

Before the commission this morning Senator Bostock said he first met John A. Gauthier in March, 1923, in his chamber in the Senate. A few days previously he had met Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works for British Columbia, who said that Gauthier, who was a friend of Hon. John A. Buckham, Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature, would call upon him. Mr. Buckham was a friend of the Senator, he said.

DENIES GIVING WARNING
Mr. Gauthier called and introduced himself on March 5, 1923, and witness gave him a letter on ordinary Senate notepaper. It was not written on notepaper of the Speaker of the Senate, as claimed, in the Gauthier affidavit. Senator Bostock denied that he warned Gauthier.

DIAMOND JUBILEE FUND IS OPENED

Greater Victoria Celebrations Are Being Handsomely Supported

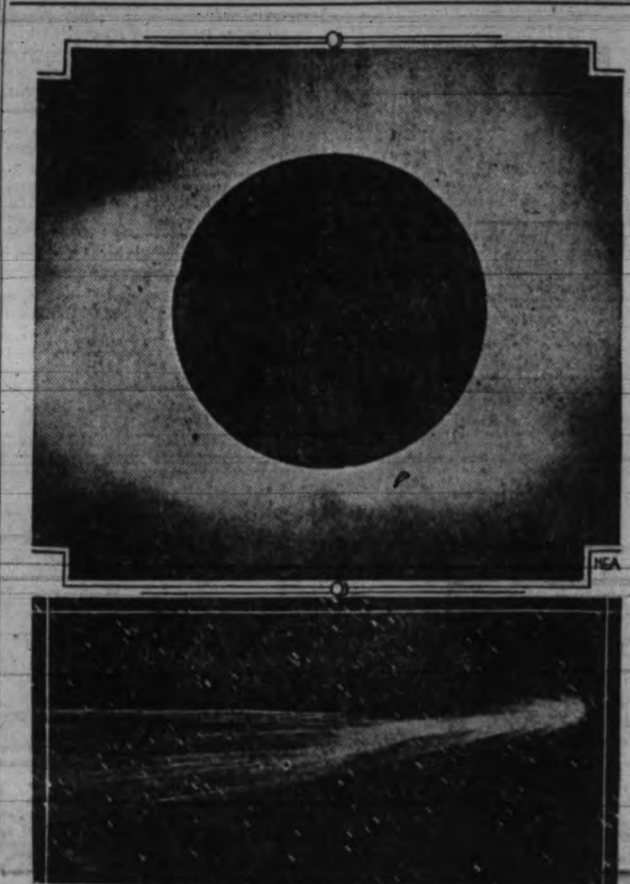

The finance committee of the Diamond Jubilee organization made solid progress this week with the task of financing the three-day celebration to mark the Sixtieth Anniversary of Confederation in Greater Victoria. Between $10,000 and $12,000 is aimed at in the creation of the Diamond Jubilee Fund, and little difficulty will be experienced, it is expected, in securing the required balance.

Funds already on hand total $8,900, or nearly half the sum, including grants from Victoria City, Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay. A great burden of the expense has been undertaken by leading business men and private interests in Victoria who have undertaken to bear all costs in the preparation of the floats for both the historical and other sections of the grand parade.

Montreal Scored For Big Epidemic

Toronto, June 14.—Characterizing typhoid fever as a "communicable and preventable disease," Dr. T. W. Mackay of Ottawa, Ontario, addressing the Ontario Medical Health Officers' Association convention here, indicated he considered the recent typhoid epidemic in Montreal to be a blot in Canadian medical history.

Byrd Declines to State if He Plans But Short Stay in Paris

New York, June 14.—Commenting on a report that he and his navigator planned to hop off at Mitchell Field for France to-morrow night or early Thursday morning in their monoplane, The America, Commander Richard E. Byrd said this afternoon they would not leave until the weather was propitious. He declined to comment on the report that the projected flight would be a round trip with only a brief stop in Paris.

An earlier dispatch from Mitchell Field to-day said:
A man close to the flying camp of Commander Richard E. Byrd, who asked that his identity be shielded, told the Associated Press to-day that weather permitting, Byrd and his navigator would hop off either to-morrow night or Thursday morning for a round trip European flight, planning to stop at Paris only a few hours.

BRITISH-EGYPTIAN CRISIS IS AVERTED

Cairo Government's Offer is Basis For Negotiations on Army Problems

London, June 14.—The threatened Anglo-Egyptian crisis is believed to have been averted. A note from Sarwat Pasha, Egyptian Premier, received by Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner in Egypt, is understood to offer a basis for negotiations regarding the Egyptian army problems.

Under the constitution of April 19, 1923, declaring Egypt a sovereign state, the question of defence was reserved, remaining under British control. The British, as commander-in-chief, and a few of the other higher army posts are held by British officers. A movement has been under way in Egypt to remove the men in favor of Egyptians.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, stated in the House of Commons June 1 that "extremist Egyptian politicians" were trying to convert the Egyptian army into a political weapon at the disposal of one political party.

GERMANY WARNS SOVIET RUSSIA

Correspondents Say Moscow to be Advised to End Propaganda Abroad

Geneva, June 14.—German newspaper correspondents, after interviewing Foreign Minister Stresemann here to-day, telegraphed Berlin that Germany had decided to warn Soviet Russia it was inadvisable to bring to an end communist propaganda in other countries.

The German Foreign Minister was quoted as saying it was "a great pity" Soviet Russia did unwise things which strengthened the hands of her enemies. He believed, however, that responsible persons in other countries did not wish to break with Russia, though "hot-heads" in some of them were demanding extreme measures.

Duke of Buckingham, which started at odds of 13 to 3, won by three lengths, while a head separated Incitatus, at 100 to 7, and Castle Derg, at 25 to 1.

The Duke of Buckingham is by Buchanan of Silver Bullet.

Victoria to See Eclipse To-night

To-night's eclipse of the moon starts at 12.27, Victoria time and ends at 12.40 a.m., experts at the Meteorological Observatory at Connaught Hill announced at noon.

The beginning of the eclipse will be visible generally from the Atlantic Ocean and most of North America except the northern limit, and the end of it will be visible in all North America except the northern part, the experts explained.

Clear weather is anticipated here to-night and it is expected that the whole twenty-two minutes of the eclipse will be visible from Victoria.

By ISRAEL KLEIN
June is an auspicious month for science and superstition.

The sun will be darkened, the moon will be obliterated and a great ball of fire, with an enormous tail, will appear to threaten us in the sky.

Years ago special prayers went up, people shut themselves in and others even committed suicide under the awesome spell of any of these events. Now, we prepare differently for these as great spectacles of scientific significance.

The darkening of the sun and obliteration of the moon are eclipses of these great bodies in space, and the great ball of fire we know now as a comet.

The first event of the three to occur this month is the moon. The earth will come between the sun and the moon, completely shutting off direct sunlight from our satellite. This will occur in the night of June 14-15, and will be seen all over the western hemisphere.

First the moon will cut through the outer shadow, or penumbra, of the earth and will slowly cross into the umbra or dark shadow, which it will reach at 1.43 a.m. eastern time, June 15. For the next hour and a half the moon's eclipse will increase until it will be totally eclipsed at 3.13. This totality will last 21 minutes, after which the moon will move slowly out of the earth's shadow, only to be obstructed from our view by the coming dawn.

POLICE IDENTIFY MURDERER'S VICTIM

Woman Killed in Vancouver Was Mrs. N. C. McKinnon, Authorities State

Vancouver, June 14.—The police here have cleared up the identity of Jean Kedward, the woman found murdered Sunday morning in the Kildale district. It is now learned her real name was Mrs. N. C. McKinnon. Her husband was for some time a partner in a Calgary brokerage firm. It is said, removing later to Innisfail, Alberta, and Edmonton. He is believed to have been in Vancouver a year ago, when he is reported to have gone to Bellingham, Wash.

Vancouver, June 14.—The Vancouver police have discovered that in addition to having a father in Scotland, Mrs. Jean Kedward, who was found dead in the brush near First Avenue and Pine Street in this city, on Sunday, is survived by a widower in Calgary and a twelve-year-old daughter.

Attempts are being made to locate Kedward. The murdered woman's effects were taken in charge by the police last night and will be held for the public administrator.

"State of Strengthened Military Protection" Declared, Says Dispatch to Warsaw

Foreigners Leaving City; Strict Censorship Imposed By Soviet Officials

London, June 14.—A Reuter dispatch from Warsaw says reports were received here to-day declaring a "state of strengthened military protection" had been proclaimed at Moscow and that a state of siege was expected there. Foreigners were reported leaving the city.

The dispatch said the Soviet authorities were refusing to grant passports to their own citizens and that the population of Moscow was panic-stricken.

A severe censorship was stated to have been imposed on the press, while even private telegrams were not being accepted.

PROSPEROUS FUTURE SEEN AHEAD OF COAST SEEDSMEN

B.C. Ideal Seed Producing District, Convention Speakers Assert

"All of us are agreed that British Columbia is the ideal location for production of flower and vegetable seeds. We should do everything in our power to develop this industry in this Province," said Dominion Horticulturist W. T. Macoun of Ottawa this morning, when presenting to the Seedgrowers' Convention at the Empress Hotel the report of the horticultural section.

Mr. Macoun pointed out that progress of fruit and vegetable seed production in British Columbia has hitherto been handicapped by competition with the large well established concerns in the United States and the low-priced labor of Europe. He was confident that, when foundation seed of quality acceptable to the Canadian Seed Growers' Association has been made available to British Columbia growers, production of a wide range of flower and vegetable seeds will be a prospering industry in this Province.

SUCCESSFUL LABORS
Mr. Macoun sketched the work of the horticultural section, in preparation of a list of nearly eighty varieties of elite stock of seed vegetables to be made available to seedgrowers.

The activities of the horticultural section being organized by the British Columbia Seed Growers' Association, but Mr. Macoun considered their operations not as successful as in Canada.

EXACT DESCRIPTIONS
President Strange remarked on the importance of this matter to British Columbia seed growers. He commented on the value of the assignment of definite printed specifications for various types of seed, and praised the horticultural committee for having undertaken the task.

The president recalled that inspection of wheat fields was made far more difficult in the absence of specific standards, recalling that when the Federal Department of Agriculture undertook to describe Marquis wheat, it was found that wide divergences in opinion as to type existed among practical growers.

President Strange then appointed a special committee to investigate and report on development of standard descriptions in all classes.

Notice of the appeal was filed to-day on Nicholson's behalf by Gordon S. Wismer, his counsel. An application is being made to Chief Justice Macdonald of the Court of Appeal, for bail pending determination of the appeal.

Level of Fraser River at Mission Is Rising Slowly

Vancouver, June 14.—This morning's reading of the gauge at Mission showed a rise in the Fraser River of only four inches in twenty-four hours. At Quenel in the same period the river rose two inches and then dropped the same amount. At Quenel there was a heavy rain last night and the weather is cool to-day. At Spence's Bridge this morning the river was six inches below the warning point, which is eighteen feet.

LATE JEROME K. JEROME

Northampton, Eng., June 14.—Jerome K. Jerome, noted British author, died at a local hospital to-day from cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Jerome, who was perhaps best known for his story, "Three Men in a Boat," was stricken in January last at Northampton while on a motor tour and was placed in hospital there.

While his condition continued serious, recent reports were to the effect that he had been improving daily, and news of his death came as a shock.

D'OISY'S PLANE CRASHES NEAR BOURGET FIELD

Famous French Aviator and His Navigator Narrowly Escape Death When Machine Destroyed by Explosion and Fire; Unfavorable Weather Delays Start of Britain-India Flight

The moment the plane struck the ground the two aviators leaped from the cockpit, unhurt. An explosion followed scarcely a moment later. The gasoline, a great quantity carried for the long flight, burned fiercely, quickly destroying the aeroplane.

PLANNED ATLANTIC FLIGHT
D'Oisy's and Gonin's try for a long-distance non-stop record to Karachi was to have been preliminary to an attempt to fly across the Atlantic from Paris to New York.

WEATHER DELAYS START
Cranwell, Lincolnshire, Eng., June 14.—Flight-Lieut. C. B. Carr and P. H. MacWorth postponed the beginning of their flight to India to-day because of unfavorable weather conditions. Using a big bombing plane, they hope to break the long-distance records set by Charles A. Lindbergh and Clarence D. Chamberlin. They will head first for Karachi, 4,100 miles away, but with favorable conditions will attempt to reach Calcutta, which is about 5,000 miles from Cranwell.

FREE STATE ELECTION CAUSES SPECULATION

Valera Party's Gains Taken to Foreshadow Dublin Coalition Ministry

Dublin, June 14.—Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail Party has drawn even with the Cosgrave Government again in the composition of the Dail Eireann on the basis of definitely known election returns at 4 o'clock this afternoon. With seventeen seats yet undecided, the standing is: Fianna Fail 41; Government 41; Sinn Fein 4; Labor 22; Farmers 9; Independents 10; National League 8.

Dublin, June 14.—Talk of a probable coalition government for the Irish Free State was uppermost to-day as returns continued to be reported on last Thursday's Dail Eireann general election. The composition of the new Dail as shown by the result in the constituencies out of a total of 152 seats indicates it will not be likely to afford President Cosgrave of the Free State Cabinet whose fifty seats without which he recently said he would not form a government.

MUCH SPECULATION
Nothing is forthcoming from official quarters on the subject of a new cabinet, but there are many who regard a coalition as inevitable and foreshadow a combination of present ministers and Laborites. For the moment, however, all is speculation and the chief outstanding fact resulting from the polling continues to be the overwhelming strength of the parties supporting the constitution but widely divided on other issues.

DISTILLERS GAVE CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Customs Commission is Told Consolidated Distilleries, Montreal, Paid $380,608

Montreal, June 14.—Political contributions of the Consolidated Distilleries Ltd. of Montreal from July, 1923, to the close of 1926, totaled $380,608.99. They were paid to both parties and deducted as part of the expenses of the business for purposes of the Income Tax. The amounts paid are charged under various headings in the books of the company.

This information was given to the Customs Commission here this morning when James G. Lawrence, secretary-treasurer of the Consolidated Distilleries, was on the stand.

Mr. Lawrence also revealed the fact that "substantial" payments were made to William Egan, Windsor, Ont., lawyer, by the Consolidated Distilleries. The total amount of these payments will be given this afternoon.

Dear Sir,—

Since last October I have been a martyr to rheumatism. My foot was so swollen I was unable to wear a shoe and I could not lift my right arm as high as my head. After spending one month in hospital without receiving any benefit, I was convinced that my case was hopeless. A friend of mine told me that she had been relieved by the "I-ON-A-CO" Belt. I have been taking one treatment a day with the "I-ON-A-CO" Belt for the last month, and I can honestly say that the rheumatism is greatly relieved, and I now do my household duties, tend my chickens and water the garden without effort. Also I sleep much better, and my general health is greatly improved. I enclose my address so that anyone wishing to corroborate these statements may do so.

Yours sincerely,

LONDON BACKING PLAN TO START MOVING PICTURE INDUSTRY HERE

Comprehensive Scheme Advanced to City Council by Experienced Producers Prepared to Invest Dollar for Dollar Under Scheme of Producing Films to Meet Empire Preference Legislation; Early Vote by People Expected

By a vote of nine to one the City Council last night ordered the preparation of a by-law which, if ratified, will give the electors of Victoria the opportunity of voting on the creation here of a motion picture industry.

Recent legislation passed by the British House of Commons has given Victoria a golden opportunity to seek the backing of United Kingdom distributors for a first-class film production industry that could operate with every chance of success, it was stated.

The offer comes to the city from Claude Fleming, Sydney, New South Wales, and William Lee Sherill, Los Angeles, executives of the motion picture industry with British and United States experience. Mr. Fleming came to Victoria with letters of introduction from Premier Bruce of Australia, and from other high dignitaries. Mr. Sherill is vouchsafed for by executives of the Famous Players Lasky Corporation and other first-run production houses in the United States. Their project, the third film enterprise advanced for city attention in the last five months, made a great impression on the council, and summarized is as follows:

WITH LONDON BACKING

The offer proposes the creation in Victoria of a $500,000 company, financed equally through the producers with London, England, backing and by the City of Victoria. The capital would be used to erect a suitable high-class one-unit production plant at a cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, including lighting and equipment, and

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepin, charcoal, drugs and various dietetic aids and get little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bismarck Magnesia—the not ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bismarck Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated, heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most evenings you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

FORT AND DOUGLAS

In the production of pictures for which distributors' orders would first be secured.

In other words, the pictures would be sold before a start was made on their filming here, and the money collected as soon as the negatives reached London for sale through an international known $12,500,000 distribution house.

The promoters explained that in the film industry a complete budget is made out of the cost of production of a specified picture. This scale is raised by the distributors and that picture contracted for in advance of its production. Money would be advanced by the British distributors on definite schedule, with the payments when the negatives are delivered in London, to be copied and circulated through the Empire.

The cost of production of an average picture would be in the neighborhood of $50,000 to $60,000, depending on the ability of the stars engaged, and not more than two productions would be outstanding at any one time; and on an average of not more than one film produced before payment had been received on its forerunner.

WORKING CAPITAL

Summing up the initial costs, the promoters gauged $195,000 as sufficient to cover the studio, equipment and first two pictures, leaving $305,000 of the capital for expansion and production of further pictures prior to the repayment of the full sums outstanding.

The promoters have had releasing contracts from Metro, Pathé, World Film and other world-known film corporations, one of the partners being the producer for "The Wrecking Hour," as well as identified with the production of "The Conquest of Canaan," and many other widely known films.

Mr. Fleming has been identified with the industry since 1912, and before the date played the parts on the legitimate stage, under Sir Herbert Tree at Her Majesty's Theatre in Trilby, at Covent Garden, Savoy, Lyric, and in London; and at the Winter Garden, Lyric, and Casino in New York.

PREFERRED BASIS

Alderman H. C. Holmes, chairman of the industrial committee, outlined the project to the council, with recommendations for early action. Messrs. Fleming and Sherill, who have great experience and known standing in the motion picture industry, with valuable United Kingdom connections, he said.

Through the passage of recent legislation by the British House of Commons, motion picture production within the Empire was on a strongly preferred basis, and the industry, though slow to start in the United Kingdom, had tremendous potentialities.

Mr. Fleming, who bore personal letters of introduction from Premier Bruce of Australia, as well as others prominent in Australian life, was a highly respected actor-manager with unlimited backing. Mr. Sherill was a man of equally wide experience. They had produced some of the largest productions for the Fox Film and other large motion picture houses, and were supported by independent wires received by the city from Famous Players Lasky Corporation and others in answer to the city's queries.

PERSONAL RISK

Messrs. Fleming and Sherill differed from other proposals reaching the city for the creation of motion pictures here, in that they proposed to put their own money at risk in the first instance. No money would be expended by the citizens of Victoria, under their proposal, unless the producers first put up a like sum. "It was proposed to raise $500,000, half of which would be found by the producers and half by the city. The fund would be administered by trustees named by the city, and the industry operated by a company incorporated under the laws of the Province, continued Ald. Holmes.

The basis of operation was the securing of contracts for production before a dollar was spent, and then guaranteeing production with the product already bought and being paid for in regular advance from the distributors in the United Kingdom who would market the product on contracts of acceptance.

Under this plan, continued Ald. Holmes, there could be no expenses incurred without due warrant, and the city would be safeguarded at every turn. To his mind the industry, as now proposed would be the best of good business, in that the product would be sold before it was made, and production costs assured. Victoria's name would go out on every picture, and the distribution within the Empire would be highly advantageous under the recent legislation.

COMMERCE BUILDING

A great deal of commerce in the United States had been built up abroad by means of the motion picture advertising secured through its early lead in the industry, stated Ald. Holmes in conclusion. The proposed agreement which the producers asked the city to enter into was very strict, and left the control virtually solely in the hands of the city. The electors should be given an early opportunity to say what they wished done with the offer, he concluded.

Alderman Mars found himself alone in opposing further action by the city in the preparation and consideration of a by-law for submission to the council. He was against the principle of advancing city money. In West Vancouver, he said, motion picture production was to be started by private capital on land bought from that municipality. He was opposed to the principle of a guarantee on a business in which there was a large element of risk. Picture production was costly, made large profits or large losses, and generally was a risky connection for the city to advance sums towards its operation, he believed.

Alderman William Marchant took the majority council view, and said so unhesitatingly.

OVER-CAUTIONSNESS

It was, he said, idle for the city to make elaborate plans to study industries, engage experts, and then ignore their advice by the imposition of impossible conditions that meant a stoppage of the industry. The city was looking to the future with hope of greater industrial yield. He for one was not ready to accept every and all project without study, and he was sure time believed that no unreasonable should be allowed to enter into the scrutiny of each project on its merits.

"It is idle to employ an industrial expert to find for us the avenues by which we may enlarge through industrial development, and then to make the terms so unbearable that no action could possibly result. These gentlemen say they will take the risk of going to London at their own expense, to lay their cards on the table to seek the financial backing they need. While we must guard the interests of the citizens in every way, we must also be careful not to put insurmountable barriers in the path of legitimate progress," continued Ald. Marchant.

The recent British legislation, he continued, was altogether in favor of production within the Empire, and the climate factor in the West was unassailable. Messrs. Fleming and Sherill approached the city with years of executive experience, and their offer involved a first and definite risk to themselves before one dollar of city money would be touched. It was right to have reservations, but the council's work should be to smooth difficulties rather than invent mental hazards in the path of each new project studied.

COUNCIL FAVORS VOTE

The motion of the industrial committee that a by-law be prepared to be submitted to the electors at an early date, carried 9-1, Alderman Mars voting in the negative. Details of the project and final analysis of its expected results will be given at the council discussion when the by-law is prepared, it was stated. Motion picture production was one of the enterprises reported on favorably by Roger D. Pinneo.

JUNE MOST UNUSUAL MONTH FOR PHENOMENA IN SKIES; MOON ECLIPSE DUE TO-NIGHT

COMET COMES NEXT

A week later the day becomes the longest of the year, with the beginning of Summer, at 5.23 on the morning of June 22.

Almost at the same time, if we happen to be up at dawn, a few scattered clouds toward the rising sun, we may be able to detect a stranger in the sky, coming toward us. It is the Pons-Winnecke comet, discovered in 1819 by a doorkeeper at the observatory at Marseilles and since then noticed every six years.

Comets are a strange lot of heavenly bodies, each a collection of fiery meteors and dust particles grouped together by some sort of electric attraction and whirling around the sun at an enormous speed and over a huge ellipse, or flat circle. Some of them have tails of thin gas, so thin that we can't see them, but they are there, even when we might be peering right through them.

The Pons-Winnecke comet is approaching us at the rate of twenty-four miles a second. The sun is in the earth is travelling, and on June 22 it will come nearest to us—a distance of 3,600,000 miles.

If we stay up until 3 in the morning of June 22, eastern time, we may see the comet perhaps without aid of a telescope, but barely visible in the sky almost directly above us. It will be moving southeast almost as fast as the moon seems to move, but the presence of a wafting mist at the same time may drown out the view of the comet.

SUN'S ECLIPSE JUNE 29

Of far more importance to science, although invisible here, will be the sun's eclipse on the morning of June 30. As the sun rises that morning, the moon will get between it and the earth so as to cast a circular shadow thirty miles in diameter, moving northeast across the earth.

This shadow will start a little west of the Bay of Biscay, cross the Atlantic and pass over the populous section of Lancashire in England.

It will proceed along the length of Norway, the north of Sweden and Lapland and over the desolate region of the Arctic Ocean north of the Siberian coast. It will go on over the eastern end of Siberia and leave the earth at sunset at the tip of Alaska.

Scientists have been preparing for this event for a whole year. Some of the instruments by which they may study the sun's corona, the great prominences of fire that can be seen favorably only when the moon covers the disk of the sun. They want to know what materials form it and exactly how.

For this long preparation the scientists will have no longer than 50 seconds to study this phenomenon. That is the longest the eclipse will last in totality. In England, where British scientists will study the eclipse, it will last only 22 seconds.

But enough material, it is hoped, will be gained to reward the scientists for their long preparations.

Hoping that it's a clear day!

B.C. MESSAGE TO PREMIER OLIVER

Vancouver Liberals Express Hope He Will Soon Return to Head Government

Vancouver, June 14.—Sympathy with Premier Oliver in his illness and hope that he will shortly be able to return from Ontario to his duties as leader of the Government of British Columbia were expressed in a resolution adopted at a conference of representatives of Vancouver City Liberals last evening. Those present were the city members of the Legislature, the presidents of the various city Liberal organizations and members of the provincial executives.

Addresses were heard from four members: Charles Woodward, Brigadier General V. W. Odium, Chris McRae and Captain Ian Mackenzie.

ENGLISH CRICKET

London, June 14 (Canadian Press Cable).—After collapsing badly yesterday, Middlesex, despite a valiant effort, were unable to save their cricket game with Nottingham at Lord's, and to-day were beaten by ten wickets. The scores: Middlesex, 139 and 930; Nottingham, 381 and 80 for no wickets.

Somerston won their match from Worcester by an innings and 40 runs.

"It is idle to employ an industrial expert to find for us the avenues by which we may enlarge through industrial development, and then to make the terms so unbearable that no action could possibly result. These gentlemen say they will take the risk of going to London at their own expense, to lay their cards on the table to seek the financial backing they need. While we must guard the interests of the citizens in every way, we must also be careful not to put insurmountable barriers in the path of legitimate progress," continued Ald. Marchant.

The recent British legislation, he continued, was altogether in favor of production within the Empire, and the climate factor in the West was unassailable. Messrs. Fleming and Sherill approached the city with years of executive experience, and their offer involved a first and definite risk to themselves before one dollar of city money would be touched. It was right to have reservations, but the council's work should be to smooth difficulties rather than invent mental hazards in the path of each new project studied.

The motion of the industrial committee that a by-law be prepared to be submitted to the electors at an early date, carried 9-1, Alderman Mars voting in the negative. Details of the project and final analysis of its expected results will be given at the council discussion when the by-law is prepared, it was stated. Motion picture production was one of the enterprises reported on favorably by Roger D. Pinneo.

COMET COMES NEXT

A week later the day becomes the longest of the year, with the beginning of Summer, at 5.23 on the morning of June 22.

Almost at the same time, if we happen to be up at dawn, a few scattered clouds toward the rising sun, we may be able to detect a stranger in the sky, coming toward us. It is the Pons-Winnecke comet, discovered in 1819 by a doorkeeper at the observatory at Marseilles and since then noticed every six years.

Comets are a strange lot of heavenly bodies, each a collection of fiery meteors and dust particles grouped together by some sort of electric attraction and whirling around the sun at an enormous speed and over a huge ellipse, or flat circle. LINDBERGH THANKS FELLOW AVIATORS

Tells Men at New York Fields
He Appreciates Aid They Gave Him

New York, June 14.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh made a flying trip—by automobile—to Mitchell Flying Field and Curtiss Flying Field on Long Island early to-day and paid informal calls on his friends, the pilots and mechanics who helped in his preparations for his New York to Paris hop.

Slipping out of the Park Avenue apartment, where he and his mother had spent the night, Lindbergh got away about 7 o'clock before the first newspapermen had arrived. He rode in the car of "Casey" Jones, Curtiss test pilot, and "Casey" himself was at the wheel.

THANKED ACQUAINTANCES

A hard rain, which later necessitated abandonment of the school children's welcome celebration scheduled for Central Park this afternoon, did not prevent Lindbergh from carrying out his wishes to thank his fellows of the air fields for their courtesies, not only at the time of his take-off, but on his arrival at Mitchell Field from Washington yesterday.

He paid his respects to Major Davidson, in charge of operations at Mitchell Field, and then, as "just another pilot," he chatted with members of the operating force, all of whom hurried to shake his hand.

One of his acts was to autograph the funnel through which had poured the gasoline that carried the "Spirit of St. Louis" across the Atlantic.

Leaving Mitchell Field, he drove to Curtiss Field, close by, where he renewed acquaintances with his buddies of less than a month ago, and then returned to his apartment.

More than 80,000 attended the farm implement show in Paris this year.

WHITE RIBBONERS SAY GOVERNMENT CONTROL FAILURE

W.C.T.U. President Urges B.C. to "Lead Others Back to Table-land of Prohibition"

Vancouver, June 14.—"And now before us, the white ribboners of Canada, stretches our great unfinished task. We must not think of ease or rest, until province by province, we win back every inch of lost territory once safeguarded by provincial prohibition enactment; further, we must see to its enforcement and safeguarding, through the protection of a Federal prohibition law."

This was the message from the Dominion President, Mrs. Gordon Wright, in her address at the national convention of Women's Christian Temperance Union to-day at Chown United Church.

Continuing, Mrs. Wright said: "I would suggest that every province institute a systematic and perhaps continuous membership campaign. Again let me repeat our objective and recommend it; that is 80,000 of a membership, doubling of I.T.L. members and the enlistment of 10,000 babies as little white ribboners. Let us also have campaigns for honorary members."

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

"We count ourselves privileged to meet in our most western province, British Columbia, which should be a province of great men and good women. We are looking forward to this province to lead others back to the table-land of prohibition."

Speaking of government control a success or failure in Canada, Mrs. Wright said: "We have demonstrated that there is not, nor indeed can be, government control of the liquor traffic. Invariably and inevitably it controls and debauches the government making the attempt. We seem to have 'reins of evidence' that in this western province so-called government control does not control, and under this system vice and crime and poverty have increased."

She quoted figures for Alberta, showing that in three and one-half years trial of this system, drunkenness had increased forty per cent. In Saskatchewan, the last of the western provinces to adopt government control, Dr. Oliver, Principal of St. Andrew's College, declared it was a distinctly backward step.

"Despite the fact that the Manitoba government control law does not embody some of the flagrant features of other similar laws, the province is reaping a tragic harvest," maintained Mrs. Wright. The situation in Quebec and Ontario was also reviewed by the speaker.

MURDERER HUNTED IN SOUTH MANITOBA BY MANY POLICE

Country Combed For Man Who Killed Woman and Girl in Winnipeg

Believed Criminal is One Who Slew Score in United States

Winnipeg, June 14.—Still at large with the combined forces of the Manitoba police and militia combing the countryside, the "Dark Strangler" or "Gorilla," who since Thursday last increased his long record of fiendish murders by two in Winnipeg, to-day appeared to have covered up his trail and to be bound for other parts to continue his reign of terror.

TRAIL WAS COLD

An all-night search of Winnipeg and its district failed to unearth any substantial clue which might lead the police to believe the killer had loitered in the city after murdering Mrs. Emily Patterson, twenty-seven, and fourteen-year-old Lota Cowan on Thursday and Friday of last week. The fact the body of the pretty schoolgirl was not found until thirty hours after the crime had been committed has handicapped the authorities in picking up the trail. Police officers of a number of United States cities who stopped here on their way from convention at Windsor, Ont., have advanced the theory that the "Gorilla" has worked with the same speed which marked his movements across the border. In every instance, after striking against his defenseless victim, they point out, he hastily departed without leaving a trace. It is now believed he may have escaped from Winnipeg under cover of darkness on Saturday night.

ALL ROADS WATCHED

Determined to apprehend the jungle throwback if he is still in the province, the police to-day continued to guard every avenue of retreat. Border towns have a good description of the fugitive and squads of provincial police officers, aided by soldiers and a number of members of the Mounted Police, were searching the country south of Winnipeg, where a cap believed to have been worn by the slayer was picked up yesterday afternoon.

The police cells of the municipal jail here were crowded with suspects and "grants" picked up by detectives on the city streets, in rooming houses and dives. Of the hundreds rounded up the majority were later given their freedom.

GIRL AIDED FAMILY

Winnipeg, June 14.—Little Lota Cowan, the school girl who was killed by the "Strangler," wanted also for the murder of Mrs. Emily Patterson here and at the slayer of a score of women in the United States, was trying to augment the family finances when strangled to death by the killer.

FATHER ILL

Lota's father had been very ill in a hospital for several weeks and came home a few days before the murder. Her mother had obtained a position, and as the family bank account had dwindled, the fourteen-year-old youngster and her sister decided to help. The sister made quantities of artificial flowers, and Lota went from house to house each evening after school, selling the blooms. It was while selling the flowers the young girl was lured to the room of "The Strangler" in a rooming house and murdered.

The body was found Sunday afternoon. The coroner expressed the belief death had occurred four days before that.

Last Friday Mrs. Emily Patterson, twenty-seven, was strangled to death in her home in Elmwood, a suburb of Winnipeg.

POLICE SEARCH

To-day the police search in Winnipeg and between this city and the United States border was continued with vigor, as it was started yesterday. Police in the United States districts near the boundary also were on the look-out.

REWARDS OFFERED

United States officers here attending the annual convention of the International Police Chiefs Association identified the killer as the "gorilla" or "strangler," a swarthy head who has strangled to death more than twenty women and children in various parts of the United States. He was described as the most desperate murderer at large to-day, and thousands of dollars have been offered for his capture dead or alive.

From San Francisco to Seattle and San Diego, Calif., through Kansas City, Toledo, St. Louis and Chicago, a trail of horror has been left by him.

Police have been mystified by the remarkable speed of the strangler, who to date has succeeded in keeping several jumps ahead of his pursuers.

TWO WORKERS LOST LIVES

Merritt, June 14.—A Chinaman and a Japanese were instantly killed at Brodie, about thirty miles from here, while a work train was unloading rock to protect the bank of the rapidly-rising Coldwater River. A crew was at work on one of the flat cars when a great poplar tree came crashing down, killing the two men.

question of alcoholism. In Bulgaria a great prohibition wave is sweeping, started soon after the world war by a school teacher who had come under the influence of temperance leaders in Switzerland. From Egypt comes the cheering word that at no distant time that land may be under the beneficial rule of prohibition. In Turkey prohibition prayers are used.

"Of India we think. We have all rejoiced at the splendid stand taken by Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal in adopting prohibition in her state. By order of the Government of Japan 10,000,000 school children are receiving scientific temperance instruction, and its 25,000 schools have been reached by temperance literature. South America is forging ahead, and in Australia and New Zealand W.C.T.U. unions are pressing forward the battle. Bermuda has a legalized sale of liquor," said Mrs. Wright.

Reports given this morning were Christian Stewardship, Mrs. E. N. Ford; Evangelist, Mrs. W. Fugate; and Militia and Soldiers' Comfort, Mrs. Sinton, of Regina. Mrs. T. H. Wright, of Gibson's Landing, led the memorial service.

WHERE IS THEIR POLIOY?

MUCH HAS BEEN HEARD LATELY from Conservative speakers in this Province about what they glibly call the shortcomings of the Oliver Government. They tell us that our people are thoroughly dissatisfied with its policies and are only waiting for an opportunity to turn it out and put in an Administration that will be led by Dr. Tolmie.

Leaving out of the reckoning altogether the record of the Government since it inherited the mess left by its predecessors in 1916—although official facts show a decade of remarkable progress—it would be interesting to know just what policies the Conservative Party is ready to launch that would convert the present economic condition of British Columbia into something so very much better in every way. Is Dr. Tolmie guarding some secret formula the application of which either will dispose of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway system at a good profit or put it on a paying basis at once? He should tell us if he has the key to this situation. So far, however, the Doctor has not given us any idea of what he would do with this piece of the Province's property if he were the leader of a Government over the Bay. We can think of nothing more vital to the taxpayers of British Columbia than the fate of this railway; and yet the Doctor seems to have no desire even to discuss it.

Then we are told that we must manufacture more of our raw materials into the finished article. Our boys must be kept here and furnished with decent jobs. We may mention, incidentally, that British Columbia's industrial payroll in 1917 was $78,000,000; in 1926 it had increased to $175,000,000. But if Dr. Tolmie can tell us how he would go about improving matters, we should be in a position to judge as to whether his formula is a good one or not. All we know at present is that if the Conservative leader could have his way, he would place an embargo on the export of logs and threaten the existence of one of this Province's most important industries, put a higher tariff on all our imports—and, of course, increase the cost of most things to the consumer. This is the policy prescribed by those few selfish interests in Central Canada that are demanding the right to erect the platform upon which the new Federal Conservative leader shall stand after the forthcoming convention in Winnipeg. Dr. Tolmie likewise either would radically amend the Canadian-Australian trade treaty or abolish it altogether—because his Eastern friends object to it—although the chairman of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said at Calgary the other day that this pact is of vital importance to a number of the industries of this Province.

The truth of the matter is, we have not heard just what Dr. Tolmie would do with the real issues about which the people of the Province are concerned. His policies as far as we have heard to date are mere generalities, a holding up of the present Government's record to an attack which is not justified by the facts—and this is not good enough.

LOOK OUT, LINDY!

LINDY SHOULD LOOK OUT. HE IS THE innocent victim of a competition in tumultuous receptions between a number of big cities, each of which is trying to out-do the others in noise and fervor. Paris began it, then London out-did Paris, and incidentally ruined his machine. On Saturday Washington went one better than London, and yesterday New York, with characteristic abandon, made more ado than the rest of them together. Detroit and St. Louis, the former the birth-place and the latter the adopted home of Lindy, have yet to be heard from. Both of these are big, hustling, ambitious centres which will try to show New York how a real reception should be carried out. Little San Diego, where Lindy's machine was built and which was the starting-place of his great flight, also must have its innings. San Diego may not be able to make as much noise as New York with its six millions, but it is a resourceful community and may have a trump or two up its sleeve. Fortunately for the various competitors, Chicago does not seem to be in the running, and Lindy will be spared the agony of a reception at the hands of Big Bill Thompson, the man who saved his city from the sinister machinations of King George.

Apart from the wear and tear of these harrowing experiences upon the mind and body of this modest, unassuming, thoroughly natural youth, there seems to be something of an ominous portent about them, judged from historical records. Dewey, Hobson and other national heroes passed through something of the kind and then went into eclipse so completely that there were few so poor as to do them reverence. Man-kind likes to exalt its favored ones for a brief period to the highest pinnacle, only with equal ardor to pull them down again. A crowd once broke the windows in the home of the Duke of Wellington in London. Lord Clive was bitterly attacked in Parliament and committed suicide. Nelson was slated for a severe drubbing, but his heroic death at Trafalgar averted this proceeding. Even Washington, Lincoln and Grant did not escape the contumely of the American people. So look out, Lindy! Watch your step!

HOW BUSINESS IS OBTAINED

THERE IS NO MYSTERY ABOUT EX-port trade; it is only a matter of a postage stamp. One Vancouver firm within the last year got a $35,000 order for an eight-cent postage stamp and a three-dollar cable.

Mr. C. H. Payne, acting director of the Commercial Intelligence Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce, now in Vancouver studying industrial conditions, made the remark quoted above while explaining the comparatively simple process by which Canadian exporters may obtain orders if they will take all the opportunities that present themselves.

This country's trade commissioners obviously are at the service of every Canadian exporter. They are stationed all over the world as intermediaries between foreign purchasers and Canadian sellers. If an exporter in Victoria wants to trade with an importer at the other end of the earth, he makes his business known to the nearest trade commissioner, and the two are put into communication. Thus, as Mr. Payne points out, there is no mystery about export trade.

The point is, however, do our exporters use the country's trade commissioners as much as they might do? Perhaps Mr. Payne's chance remark about the Vancouver merchant who got a $35,000 order for an expenditure of $3.08 will put others more on the alert in their own and in the Dominion's interests.

MORE BYELECTIONS

STILL ANOTHER BYELELECTION HAS TO be prepared for by the Baldwin Government in Great Britain. The Brixton division of Lambeth loses its representative in the House through the elevation of Sir Davison Dalziel to the peerage.

This contest should not cause Mr. Baldwin much alarm under ordinary circumstances; but recent byelections have indicated a decided change of attitude throughout the country. The Liberal Party's victory in the Bosworth division of Leicestershire the other day was no less striking than the large gain in the number of votes polled by the Labor candidate in that contest. The Brixton division of Lambeth, however, has a Conservative history. In the general election of 1924 Sir Davison Dalziel polled 15,755 votes, the Laborite 7,210, and the Liberal 4,871; but it is noteworthy that the chain of Conservative victories in the constituency was broken in 1923 when Mr. Baldwin went to the country on his Imperial Preference proposals. On that occasion it was a straight fight between Liberal and Conservative, the Liberal polling 10,881 against the Conservative retiring member's total of 9,476.

Another byelection which is attracting attention now is that in the Westbury division of Wiltshire, the seat being vacant through the recent death of Captain W. W. Shaw, who won it for the Conservatives from the Liberals in 1924. On that occasion it was a three-cornered contest—as it will be this time—revealing an anti-Conservative vote of 14,579, the Liberal polling 9,848, the Laborite 4,731, and the Conservative 11,559.

As in the case of the recent Bosworth byelection, which the Liberals captured from the Conservatives, the Baldwin Government's Trades Disputes Bill and the break with Soviet Russia will be the principal issues discussed with the Westbury electors. The Daily Express declared emphatically after the Bosworth contest that the tide turned against the Administration because of its policy with regard to Russia. It was significant, to say the least of it, that Labor increased its vote by more than 2,600 as compared with that of 1924.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BRITISH CAPITAL COMING
From The Montreal Star

In the visit of a party of British capitalists to the Lake St. John region over the week-end it is to be found, solid satisfaction of a most emphatic kind regarding British investments in this Province. From time to time we have heard most disconcerting rumors to the effect that the British investor has lost faith in Canada, that the experience of the Grand Trunk shareholders has had a deterrent effect upon those with capital available for investment, and that money which might have come in this direction is being diverted elsewhere. The fact that American concerns have succeeded, in some instances, in securing a foothold in most desirable locations in the province has doubtless tended to support these rumors. But the coming of these British capitalists to Quebec, and their visit to the North Quebec region, points quite definitely to the fact that there is under consideration substantial investment of British money here.

The party includes Lord Gainsford, president of the Federation of British Industries, Richard Pease, one of the leading iron and coal financiers in England, and Sir George Courthope, a pioneer in the best sugar industry. It has already been made public that their intention in coming here is to look into the possibilities of the Lake St. John district from the viewpoint of possible British investments. They are welcome guests, and if they come to the definite conclusion that British capital will find a profitable home here, Quebec will leave nothing undone to insure that they shall not regret such a decision. We welcome all capital that is substantial and controlled by responsible people, but naturally we welcome first and foremost British capital.

A THOUGHT

The price of wisdom is above rubies.—Job xxviii, 18. Who then is free? The wise man who can govern himself.—Horace.

Do You Mean What You Say?

HOKUM

The gypsy word, "hokum," probably derived from the Latin "hoc," had a meaning similar to our own "humbug" or "deception." The wandering gypsy tribes were noted for their sleight-of-hand tricks, palm reading, and other deceptive arts, and the word "hokum" undoubtedly grew from their own word describing their practices.

Canadian Questions and Answers

NORWAY HOUSE

Q.—Where is Norway House?
A.—Norway House is the centre of a Hudson's Bay post on Lake Winnipeg, where the original buildings were erected over a century ago. It was for many years one of the most important of the fur trading centres, and in earlier years the annual meetings of the Hudson's Bay Company were held there, as it held a strategic position in the company's line of communication across the country. Norway House is still an important freight distributing centre. Cree Indians are here found.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

Sixty Years of Progress

No. 22
EDWARD BLAKE

For a quarter of a century the Hon. Edward Blake played a leading part in the political life of Canada. He did much to mould public opinion, but he

JOTS FROM GEOGRAPHY

TIBER RIVER, of Italy, is the most celebrated river in the country. The stream rises in the Apennines of Tuscany and flows on a winding course 200 miles to the Mediterranean, passing many noted cities on its way. "Father Tiber" is alluded to in the literature of the ancient Romans, and was deified by Rome's populace in past centuries.

lacked the personal magnetism necessary for successful leadership.
Edward Blake was born in Adelaide, Upper Canada, on October 13, 1853. He was educated at Upper Canada College and the University of Toronto. In 1880 he was called to the bar and speedily achieved distinction as an equity lawyer. His political career began in 1887. It was a time of dual representation and he was elected to the House of Commons and to the local legislature. He became leader of the Ontario opposition and in 1871 caused the defeat of the Sandfield Macdonald administration and became prime minister. On the abolition of dual representation he was elected and sat in the House of Commons.

In 1873 he entered the Mackenzie cabinet without portfolio, but resigned after three months. In some respects he was out of harmony with his leader, and on October 3, 1874, delivered his famous Aurora speech, aligning himself with the Canada First Party. He advocated the federation of the Empire, extension of the franchise, compulsory voting, representation of minorities, and reorganization of the Senate. He favored an Imperial union in order that Canada might have a greater share in the management of its own affairs. But this was only a passing mood; in time he laid aside his federalist leanings and became an out-and-out autonomist.

In May, 1878, he re-entered the Mackenzie Government as Minister of Justice, and during his two years of office effected important constitutional changes. He vigorously opposed fulfilling the terms of union with British Columbia, that "Sea of Mountains" as he called it. He considered that, if carried out, the railway programme he would "be a frightful loss." This was a case of a great man lacking vision. He resigned as Minister of Justice and became President of the Council, but in 1879 he withdrew altogether from the cabinet. He took no part in the election of 1878, but when the Government was defeated and the party required reorganization, he was elected to the House of Commons. He held until 1887, and under him the Liberals suffered defeat in two general elections. He had proved himself a brilliant orator and a statesman. While in opposition he delivered some of his ablest speeches, such as his address on the bargain with the Canadian Pacific syndicate and on the execution of Riel and the mismanagement of Northwest Affairs. He vigorously opposed the National Policy, but while a free trader in theory he could say "free trade is for us impossible" and not "in the domain of practical politics."

He realized that as a leader he was not a success and in 1887 resigned the leadership and the next general election declined nomination. In the meantime his party came out for unrestricted reciprocity. This occasioned his famous Durham letter, which showed how thoroughly he was out of sympathy with the policy of the Liberal Party. In 1892 Mr. Blake accepted the seat in the Imperial Parliament as the Irish member for South Limerick. He returned to Canada in 1897, having for fifteen years done much to further the cause of home rule, and lived in retirement in Toronto until the time of his death, on March 1, 1912.

AN ALTERNATIVE ROAD

To the Editor:—I see by an article in The Victoria Daily Times dated May 19, that the Government authorities are seeking an alternative route to the Malahat. The one they should take is through the Highland District, it being located on the Saanich Peninsula. It is always free of snow in winter. Whereas the Malahat is always blocked with snow, and if the authorities seek around west of the Malahat they will get into more snow in the winter.

At the north end of the Highland district just a little way into Saanich, the Mill Bay ferry is situated, therefore when the Malahat Road is closed or under repair vehicles can proceed as far as Langford, thence along the Highland Road to Saanich where the following are situated, viz: Experimental Farm (the only one on the Island and for the use of all the Island), Observatory, Rifle Range, Mr. Butchart's Gardens, Mill Bay Ferry, Sidney Ferry, etc.

Now the Highland district is a great hunting and fishing district, most of the Victoria people, and all of the Saanich hunt in the above mentioned district and of course pay a license for their car and shooting, therefore they expect good roads. Now it can be easily seen what a useful road the above mentioned is. To my way of thinking, it is the most important road on the Island because it is the connecting link to Saanich, Victoria and the rest of the Island.

getting the benefit of the above mentioned farm.
There is a fairly good road in this district from Langford to the school-house, but from there for the next few miles, it is an almost impossible one till you reach the turn just at the Ross ranch. From this point till you reach Saanich there is an excellent road with an easy grade, but only a single track one. This last mentioned portion was built by the present Government and is a fine piece of engineering. This Ross Durance Road is described in the Government Lands office as one of the very few beauty spots left.

There is a park of 145 acres in this district bordering on McKensie Bay, Saanich Arm, which is about three-quarters of a mile from the Ross Durance Road. This park was gazetted in 1922, but there is neither a trail or road leading to it.
This bay has a nice sandy beach and fresh water running from two lakes into this bay all the year around. One section, part of the Ross Durance Road is now also reserved for the general public. There are four camps shown in the district on a plan in Clark's Handy Guide to Victoria.

A good alignment and a perfect grade can be secured all through this district at a very reasonable cost.
There were over a hundred people passed through this district on the 24th of last month. No doubt, most of these people could tell you what a beautiful district it is, and they can also tell you what a rotten road the centre one is. Why should this district be so neglected? Why should all the taxes in this district pay all their taxes to the Government?

Yours truly,
W. W. ARCHER,

NEW YORK GIVES LINDBERGH HONOR

Tumultuous Greeting in Streets For Airman; State Presents Medal

New York, June 14.—"We are not giving you the city," it is yours. You have won it."
These were among the words with which Mayor Walker yesterday, on behalf of the city of New York, welcomed Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his return from Europe.

At the City Hall the Mayor presented the New York-Paris aviator with a scroll.
GIVEN MEDAL.
In Central Park Lindbergh was presented with the Medal of Valor of the State of New York, which never before had been given to any but a native New Yorker. Governor Smith made the presentation, saying Lindbergh was hailed in the Empire States as "an ideal and an example for the youth of America."

"New York is proud to bestow upon you her medal of valor," the Governor said, "not only for your achievement, which is beyond the power of words to describe, but in admiration of the personality which your exploit and your daring have painted for us."

The medal was inscribed as follows: "The medal for valor of the State of New York is hereby awarded to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, 110th Observation Squadron, 95th Division, Air Service, Missouri National Guard, for intrepidity and courage of the highest degree in flying alone and unaided from New York to Paris, in the development of aviation to the glory of his country and to his own undying fame."

UNPARALLELED WELCOME.
Yesterday Lindbergh flew in an army plane from Washington to Mitchell Field. There he transferred to an amphibian plane and flew to the Quarantine Station, from where the city tug Macon brought him to Battery Park. At the Battery, a procession was formed, which took him to the city hall and later to Central Park. The welcome given the airman during the procession was described as unparalleled in the history of the United States. Millions turned out to greet him, and roared themselves hoarse. New York expresses itself in noise and paper hung from windows, and yesterday there was noise such as had never been heard before, and the paper was knee-high in some of the narrow downtown streets.

The greeting was roared all up the bay by steamboat sirens, and then in the city's streets from the Battery to the Mall in Central Park, packed tight by hundreds of thousands who laughed, cried and struggled against police lines to reach the idol who had appeared to them as no man ever had before.

The aviator himself said the greeting was greater than those given him.

WOMEN REAFFIRM STAND ON PRINCIPLE OF MIXED JURIES

Local Council Hears Report of Findings of Provincial Meeting

The principle of mixed juries of men and women in all criminal cases involving women and children was again endorsed by the Local Council of Women at its final meeting of the season yesterday afternoon.

This action followed the reading of the comprehensive report given by Miss Cressie of the recent deliberations of the Provincial Council on Women, the subject was brought in by the Nainaimo body. The report also spoke of the matter of a Government stamp on tuberculous meat, the women not being satisfied that this meat was fit for food. Even doctors were divided on the question. The need for the provision of a just basis for the settlement of alimony was another matter which came before the provincial meeting, stated the report.

WOMEN CANDIDATES
Miss Lottie Bowron presented a report of the committee which met recently to look into the matter of finding women candidates for municipal honors. She also took the opportunity to appeal to each of the affiliated societies to support the Confederation pageant by entering a float or decorated car.

Mrs. Schofield, as convener of the mental hygiene committee, spoke of the recent conference with Dr. Hinks, and outlined a proposed programme for next year's study group.

Mrs. A. Booth presented a report of the children's operating table endorsement fund for which a tag day will be held on July 16. She reviewed the history of the undertaking as follows: "Early in the year 1925 the public health committee of the Local Council of Women, had it brought to their attention by public health nurses, the difficulty poor families have in paying for minor operations performed on their children. Often necessary operations were put off indefinitely on account of the expense. A generous appeal was whereby an operating table in hospital should be available for the use of children up to the age of fifteen years, for minor operations. This consisted of the use of operating table, anaesthetic and stay of twenty-four hours in hospital if necessary. To provide funds for this purpose, a tag day was held March 13, 1926, and a generous response was realized $797.60. In the first year, ninety-one children received this benefit at a cost of $682.50. For the purpose of carrying this work a second tag day was held March 20, 1926, which realized $513.64. During the second year, 102 children were paid for from this fund."

In appealing for the co-operation of the affiliated societies by giving a donation or supplying taggers, Mrs. Booth stated that Miss Morrison, the public health nurse, was secretary of the fund. Mrs. Booth, 65541, or Mrs. Crocker, 9964R, would be glad to receive the names of taggers.

Mrs. Angus Galbraith in presenting her financial report of the council's finances, stated that the women's institute had kindly offered space in their section at the Fall Fair and the proceeds for an ice cream and candy booth. In aid of the council's funds. The offer was gratefully accepted, and Mrs. Galbraith will be the convener.

Egyptian Room is Feature of Sydney Masonic Building

Special to The Times
Sydney, Australia, June 14.—Believing modern Freemasonry has some affinity with the mysteries of ancient Egypt, members of the local Royal Arch lodge have had constructed an Egyptian room which they declare is the best existing example of the temple shrine of antiquity. Raynor Hoff, sculptor, Professor Wyndhouse of Sydney University, and A. Phipps Coles, architect, collaborated in the designing and execution of the room. It is surrounded by characteristic columns, and the walls in low relief are brilliantly colored scenes from the Egyptian "Book of the Dead."

The pictures represent episodes from an actual manuscript, known as the papyrus of the Scribe Ani, written about 1450 B.C. The whole of it is in the British Museum, seventy-eight feet long, and it is unequalled for the number and skill of its paintings. Sydney University has a copy. Among the scenes reproduced in the new shrine are the weighing of the soul against a feather, while the monstrous crocodile-headed Ammut lurks nearby ready to devour the condemned soul. Twenty-four scenes from the papyrus are reproduced, while over the door is a painting of the Judgment of Osiris. According to Dr. Albert Churchward, the ancestors of the Australian aborigines were negroes of the Nile practicing a strange cult. He mentions that the words "Ara Tapa Tyri al" are used, though the users have long forgotten their meaning. The words are however ancient Egyptian, meaning "The Child of the Red Crown made another burial place for the snake."

W.C.T.U. DISCUSSES LIQUOR QUESTIONS

Manitoba's Problem of Beer By Glass or Bottle; P.E.I. "Struggle"

Vancouver, June 14.—The twenty-fourth convention of the Canadian Women's Temperance Union opened for its four days' business session in Chown Church yesterday.

The reports on the different activities were read yesterday afternoon. Mrs. John Scott of Montreal, submitted the report of her executive. The reports were read by Mrs. W. T. G. Brown of Kingston, Ontario, on the annual report publication, and stated that each year there was a deficit in bringing out this publication and asked for more concerted support from the different districts throughout the Dominion.

Mrs. Partridge read a report from the Manitoba, provincial branch of the W.C.T.U., and pointed out that the W.C.T.U. of Manitoba is obliged to vote on "beer by the bottle" as there are two clauses in the appeal for beer—one deals with beer by the glass which would mean that beer would be sold not only in beer parlors but in any and all restaurants, light lunch parlors. "We Temperance women of the Province of Manitoba are confronted with a condition that is unique," she said. "We of course, do not want beer but here we are between two evils—beer by the bottle or beer by the glass—and we must vote for one or the other, and so we have taken the lesser of two evils, beer by the bottle. In voting thus, we prohibit the sale of beer in open parlors and make it compulsory to consume the beer in the home of the or in private."

Mrs. Enright of Montreal, spoke at some length on social service and what excellent work has been done throughout the Dominion in Social Hygiene instruction particularly for the foreign mothers.

Mrs. McKelroy of Calgary, reported on the work of forming Little White Ribbons—children who take the pledge of temperance. In a brief address Mrs. McKelroy pointed out the pernicious influence drunkards have on the mind of the child and how soon children become immune to scenes of inebriety. She gave several examples of rescue of the parents from drink through the activities of the children White Ribbons.

Mrs. Gordon Wright, national president, occupied the chair and gave a brief address on the struggle that is going on in Prince Edward Island, and in conclusion said, "If Prince Edward Island does not win in favor of temperance, God Help the Dominion!"

Rev. O. M. Sanford, minister of Chown Church, welcomed the convention and in his greeting said that he hoped this convention would go on record for providing some practical means for removing from the fair name of British Columbia, the stain that the liquor traffic has placed upon it, and assured them that he personally, and the women of his church, were with them in any move they might plan to wipe out the liquor traffic from the Dominion of Canada.

The afternoon session was devoted entirely to the reading of reports during the first half of the session, and Judge Helen Macdonald occupied the latter part of the meeting with an address on "Is Government Sale a Success or a Failure in British Columbia?"

EMBARGO ON MILK
New York, June 14.—Health Commissioner Harris of New York City, announced on his return from Montreal yesterday that the city's embargo on milk and cream from the Montreal area would be continued until all danger had passed. Garden Party.—A garden party and sale of work in aid of the Erskine Sunday School will be held at the home of Mrs. McKim, 3133 Balfour Avenue to-morrow, commencing at 2.30.

HOUDINI'S WIDOW Receives Insurance

He did this to prove his excellent physical condition, Cooney explained, adding that the blow landed in the region of the appendix and caused a rupture.

Luxton

Luxton, June 14.—Mrs. R. Brown of "Whitely," Happy Valley, has returned from her visit to Vancouver accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Wilson, who will be her guest for a few weeks.

The annual school picnic in connection with the closing exercises of the Happy Valley School will be held on Friday, June 24, at Witty's Beach, Metochin.

Mrs. Brice has resigned from the Luxton Hall committee and the vacancy has been filled by W. Whybrow.

The regular monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute was held in the hall on Thursday last, the vice-president, Mrs. Hutcheon, in the chair. The meeting was well attended and one new member enrolled. The first year gift from the members of the institute to the Solarium, one state of eggs, thirty dozen, will be dispatched this week. It was decided to postpone the Summer flower show, which was scheduled to be held in July, as there is every possibility of the Melchiosin Farmers' Institute including flowers in their prize list at the forthcoming specialized Fall fair, to be held at Luxton, and the ladies of the Luxton and Happy Valley W.I. feel that they could co-operate and make the Fall show a bigger and better success than by holding a small show themselves. Miss V. Hodge of the Red Cross Society was introduced to the members by the chairman and gave a very interesting address on home nursing and the formation of home nursing classes. Miss Hodge also spoke directly to the members of the Busy Bee Girls' Health Club, several of whom were present by invitation of the institute, of the splendid work done by the Junior Red Cross. A vote of thanks was passed to the speaker and flowers were presented to her by Miss Evelyn Smith, president of the Busy Bee Girls' Health Club. Mrs. Oliver were hostesses at the tea hour and, there being no secretary owing to the sudden departure of Mrs. Friesch, secretary-elect, for England, Mrs. Dallimore acted as secretary pro tem.

The concert and dance held in the Luxton Hall by Lady Emily Walker to raise funds for the Hatley Park fete, was unfortunately not as well attended as was hoped, but those present had a very enjoyable time. A good concert programme was presented, most of the items being given in costume, and Mrs. Walker's orchestra supplied music for dancing.

For theological college.—A silver tea set in aid of the kitchen furnishings of the new Anglican Theological College will be held to-morrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. Smith, 1362 Dallas Road.

ROSE DAY PROCEEDS FOR CHILD WELFARE

I.O.D.E. to Hold Alexandra Rose Day Saturday Next; For Local Charity

Just sixteen years ago Alexandra Rose Day was instituted in Great Britain to commemorate the birthday of the late Queen-Mother and at the same time assist the funds of the Cripple which was one of her charities. The roses sold on this day were all made by the crippled children at the institution, and when the I.O.D.E. instituted the observance of the day in Canada the order bought its dainty emblems from the same source, buying the cheapest of all the beautiful roses made by the deft fingers of the cripples, only 2 1/2 per cent of the gross receipts of the sale going to this purpose.

Apart from this small payment to the Cripples for the flowers, the whole of the proceeds are used by the I.O.D.E. for child welfare work in Victoria, either in the shape of maternity assistance, groceries and milk for children in the families of needy ex-service men, or for sick children through the V.O.N. Last year the whole of the proceeds were turned over to the Solarium at Mill Bay.

The I.O.D.E. will hold Alexandra Rose Day on Saturday, June 18, when Mrs. A. E. Hopkins of Camosun Chapter will act as general convener. The proceeds will again be used for local child welfare work, and the organizers again appeal for support from the generous public.

Cyril Maude's Son Married Yesterday
London, June 14.—John Cyril Maude, son of the noted actor, Cyril Maude, and Miss Rosamond Murray, daughter of Dr. Morris Murray of Boston, were married at the Henry VIII Chapel at Westminster Abbey yesterday. Many prominent members of the stage attended the wedding as well as the reception later at the Ritz.

YOUR BABY and MINE
By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

No one can tell anyone exactly how a child should be dressed. The mother must have some sense of atmosphere and temperature and dress the baby accordingly. But one may reassure the mothers that children seldom wear too few clothes in the Summer and that most babies are dressed unbearably.

A small, inexperienced mother once brought her baby to me and asked me why the child suffered so constantly with prickly heat. It was hot, middle July weather, and the child, a great, husky girl of eleven months, had on a woolen shirt and band; a woolen petticoat and a woolen diaper. Her whole face was a mass of prickly heat and the child wriggled with discomfort. The mother told me that a maiden aunt, who lived with her, said it would be dangerous to the child's woolens in Summer and so the baby suffered on, a helpless victim of her poor advice.

Children, as said before, can seldom wear too few clothes in the Summer. When the weather is hot a part wool and cotton band, a diaper and a slip are the only essentials. The child, over two needs only the thin undergarment, thin pants and dress. Putting a child into starched dresses in hot weather, bundling her feet in patent leather shoes, is a mistake. Use sandals with generous air holes cut in them; low socks, and the lightest and simplest of underwear and dresses.

The small boy needs little but a pair of rompers. Dress the child as you would like to be dressed if you were as young as he, and you won't go far wrong.

The tiny, new born baby naturally can stand a great deal more heat than the child of four or five months. Babies are easily chilled and so one must be on the watch for changes of temperature and when the days veer from hot to cool, add more clothing.

The wee baby can still wear the silk and wool or cotton and wool band throughout the Summer. It is a protection against just such changes and will not be too warm. On moderate days he may wear a cotton, long-sleeved shirt over this diaper, cotton hose and a slip. When he is very very small and "new," he will have to have his small feet in patent woolen hose or else a flannel petticoat which is long enough to wrap up his pink toes and keep them warm. Up to six weeks the small baby needs almost as many clothes as he would if he were a Winter baby, since our houses are not much warmer in Summer than they are in Winter, with steam heat and all.

After six weeks all but the band, cotton shirt, diaper and slip can be eliminated during the hot part of the day and put on again in the evening when it grows cooler. But much depends on the child's hands and feet as an indicator of his condition. If they are cold he needs more clothing no matter how warm the mother may feel. If hands and feet are warm and the circulation good, keep him cool with as few clothes as possible.

No Gray Hair!

A wise man or woman won't use a dangerous hair dye; nor anything that gives hair the dull, dyed look that's worse than grayness. Kolor-Bak is a very different proposition! A clean, colorless liquid which gently and gradually brings the hair to the color it should be. Your hair is unharmed—doesn't even lose its lustre—and the scalp is actually benefited!

Blonde or brunette; anuburn, brown or black; no matter about the shade, for the one bottle of this clear liquid is right for everybody. Lots of people you know may use it—you can't detect it! Kolor-Bak will give you the same perfect results; that's guaranteed when you buy it.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN ALL PROVINCES TO IMPROVE SEED

Convention Hears Reports of Progress in Better Farm Methods

Yesterday afternoon's session of the Seed Growers' Convention at the Empress Hotel was devoted to reception of reports on the activities of Provincial Seed Boards throughout Canada. Cecil Tice, Provincial Agronomist of British Columbia, reported on the work of the British Columbia Seed Board, stating that encouraging progress has been made in this Province in seed production. He particularly referred to seeds of roots, vegetables, grasses, clovers and flowers, pointing out that Canada now annually imports seeds worth $3,000,000, most of which can profitably be grown in British Columbia.

Eighty-five acres are devoted to flower seeds, with about sixty-five acres used for sweet pea culture. Production of red clover seed is proving most successful, over 800 acres at Sumas being harvested last year and a substantial increase in crop being made this year.

Mr. Tice touched upon the successful work of the Victoria Rotary Club in encouraging seed growing among boys and girls.

EXPERT ADVICE
Federal Seed—Commissioner G. H. Clark of Ottawa agreed that British Columbia offers unusual advantages to the seed producer. He believed that production of red clover seed would be much less precarious as a crop than it is in Eastern Canada, stating that growers in this Province can multiply present production by ten and yet earn a premium market for all they can offer. This result would follow because of the high quality and stamina of British Columbia grown red clover.

Mr. Clark urged careful organization of the growers in this Province, to work in co-operation with established seed selling commercial firms. He advised growers not to look for markets beyond the confines of North America, and urged that selling services of the Canadian Seed Growing Association be separated as early as possible from the scientific and advisory services carried on.

Mr. Clark considered that provision of the Association of commercial services is the reason why the privilege of franking mail has been withheld, and unless a separate commercial organization is set up the association may lose the office accommodation at Ottawa at present freely accorded by the Federal Government.

ALBERTA PROGRESS

W. J. Stephens of Edmonton, Field Crops Commissioner of Alberta, reporting on behalf of the Alberta Seed Board, urged drastic specifications for registered wheat seed.

One-third of the requests received last year for seed were for "Red Bob's 22" and "Garnet" varieties. He regretted that no inspection was made in Alberta last year of fields of these varieties and feared much admixture would be found in seed sold from these fields.

Mr. Stephens agreed with Federal Seed Commissioner Clarke as to the necessity of establishing a marketing organization. He forecast early production of an adequate supply of timothy and alfalfa seed, while production of early maturing corn is advancing rapidly. Field crop competition along with agricultural societies, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and public service organizations, the provincial treasury contributing fifty per cent of the prize lists of field crop competitions or seed fairs.

WHEAT IN SASKATCHEWAN

Prof. M. Champlin of the Field Husbandry Division of Saskatchewan University at Saskatoon, presented on behalf of the Saskatchewan Seed Board a report on conditions in Saskatchewan. He introduced a number of leading Prairie farmers in attendance at the convention, who are members of the organization commercially handling seed wheat for Saskatchewan producers.

Production of registered seed has increased rapidly in recent years in Saskatchewan, these being 4,000 acres in 1920 and now over 20,000 acres.

MANITOBA CAMPAIGN

J. E. Blakeman of Winnipeg, Dominion Government Seed Inspector for Manitoba, presented a report on seed growing conditions in Manitoba. The operations of the Manitoba Seed Board had been strongly upheld by various organizations. A campaign for advancement of use of registered oats having been very successful, the Board has now undertaken a similar project to advance use of registered barley, five bushels being supplied progressive farmers in each municipality in the Province.

During the past winter the Manitoba Seed Board carried on a publicity campaign to advance use of good seed. Folders being enclosed in the mail of large firms, posters displayed on elevators and railway stations, public meetings held, and the two transcontinental railways operating special good seed demonstration trains.

ONTARIO ACTIVITY

A. Mason, of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, reported on the work of the Ontario Seed Board. This included similar activity to that undertaken by Manitoba.

QUEBEC CONDITIONS

Field Crop Commissioner L. P. Roy of Quebec gave a report on the conditions of the Quebec Seed Board. He stated that there is apparently little demand for extra fine grades of seed in Quebec Province. Large quantities of oats of highest grade have been sold at the price of lower grades, because of inability to create demand for better qualities at higher prices.

comedy has been given a brand new dress, new laughs and a new lease on life that should give screen audiences a new conception of what can be done in the way of film fun.

Edward Small, of the producing firm of Asher, Small & Rogers, who made this latest First National hit, has turned out something unique in the form of a feature comedy. If his desire was to keep audiences roaring from the opening scene to the final fade-out he has succeeded.

Charles Murray, as the hodgepodge Irishman, is irresistible, and teamed up with Chester Conklin as a Scottish barber, Charlie proves one of the greatest comers of the screen. Of course, pretty faces—and figures as well—have not been overlooked in the making of this picture. Edna Murphy, in the leading feminine role, is one of the most convincing reasons why gentlemen prefer blondes. Then, when Dorothy Dwan comes along—photographing as a decided brunette—one becomes convinced that he might prefer her without losing the slightest evidence of his gentility.

On the stage at the Capitol Theatre this week three exceptionally fine vaudeville acts are being offered. The feature act introduces Grant & Bates, a comical colored team which, according to the advance reports, are claimed to be a riot of fun and merriment. Edythe Fletcher, a very dainty dancer, and Hazel Thorpe, a harpist supreme, late of the New York City Symphony and Mark Strand Theatre will be heard in a superb musical novelty offering.

BIG HORSE RACING PICTURE IS SHOWING AT THE COLUMBIA

"Trainer and Temptress" has not only its share of drama, but also brings out the best of the racing element so popular among the British public, culminating in a very dramatic situation of the greatest race of the year, which everyone knows is the Epsom Derby—the much-talked-of Blue Riband of the Turf. The part of the horse in the case is played by the well-known Twelve Pointer. This film, which has been almost entirely produced at the training stables of Atty Perse at Stockbridge, features among other well-known artists Juliette Compton, who is regarded as a coming star. The production is now being shown at the Columbia Theatre.

BIG BRITISH SPECTACLE AT THE DOMINION

"All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor"—One of the merry scenes aboard the battleship in the greatest of British Naval Pictures, "The Flag Lieutenant."

"END OF THE ROAD" NOW AT THE VARIETY AS WEEK'S FEATURE

There has been more than one production styled as a morality play presented on the stage or screen, in which the author has dwelt rather heavily on the elaborate setting of scenes of revelry, in a manner that almost defeated its own object by making the settings so lavish. But in "The End of the Road," the much-talked-of offering now showing at the Variety Theatre, the point of the story is very forcibly brought home by sheer dramatic action and a grimly realistic portrayal of the consequences of the follies and indiscretions of life. The picture is being presented by Canadian Social Hygiene Council and none under sixteen years are admitted.

GIRL RISES FROM REPORTER TO STAR ON SILVER SCREEN

First a newspaper reporter, then a special writer, then to stage success in stock and vaudeville, and now an equally successful star before the motion picture camera, is the experience of Miss Lillian Lighton who has an important character part in "The Mine With the Iron Door." Sol Lesser's film version for Principal Pictures of Harold Bell Wright's two million copy novel. This feature photoplay is announced as the attraction at the Playhouse Theatre this week.

LOVE, WAR, ACTION ALL SEEN IN "THE FLAG LIEUTENANT"

Action! There's a carload of it in store for the thousands of Victorians when they visit the Dominion Theatre this week, where "The Flag Lieutenant" will be featured. This is one of the most powerful and spectacular of all British productions and is destined to crowd the capacity of the Dominion during the engagement.

"This production has almost everything even the most blasé motion picture fan could want. There is a strong story-plot, the love of man for woman, and of man for man. There is the wonderful way of the seemingly unemotional English girl with that white-hot volcano of affection in the heart of her beneath the delicately cool exterior that she shows to the watching world. There is a woman's wit in a crisis. There is man's magnificent self-sacrifice for a friend. There is fighting, and there is flirting. There is death and there is dancing. Best of all there's a happy ending won out of almost impossibly hard conditions, just the sort of story that makes the tangles of real life seem worth living through after all."

Produced with the direct co-operation of the British Admiralty, excellent opportunity is given for the picturing in the very best manner possible of the British navy at work and at play. Thousands upon thousands of "His Majesty's Jollies—soldier and sailor too" appear in this gigantic production which contains one of the finest colorful backgrounds yet to reach the screen. It also boasts of a splendid selected cast and was produced in England under the direction of Maurice Edey.

A public meeting was called on Friday evening at the Mahon Hall, when Wm. Scott as chairman and J. S. Jones, secretary, a committee was appointed to proceed with arrangements for a celebration to be held at Ganges for Salt Spring Island. There will be sports and a programme in the afternoon to be opened by a short service and flag-raising. An open air community service will be held on Sunday evening at the Mahon Hall grounds.

The funeral services of the late Hugh Johnson was held by the Rev. J. W. Finton and assisted by Rev. Mr. Aitkens at St. Paul's Church, Ganges, and laid to rest in the Anglican cemetery at Central. The casket was covered with beautiful wreaths, crosses and sprays. The hymns were "The Light That Shines Over" and "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." The ballbearers were D. S. Harris,

BIG OPPORTUNITIES FOR EXPORT TRADE

For Merchants in Canada

C. H. Payne, Federal Department Director, Visits
Coast of B.C.

Vancouver, June 14.—"There is no mystery about export trade; it is only a matter of postage stamps," said C. H. Payne, acting director of the Commercial Intelligence Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce, while in Vancouver studying industrial conditions.

"Canada's corps of trade commissioners in various parts of the world are at the service of the exporters of this country. If a manufacturer or merchant in British Columbia wishes to export something all he has to do is to write a letter to one or more of our trade commissioners and give him a number of basic facts and he will be informed of whatever opportunities there may be for the sale of his wares in the country to which he writes."

"One Vancouver firm within the past year got a $35,000 order for an eight-cent postage stamp and a $3 cable."

Mr. Payne contended the Canadian Commercial Intelligence Service, the first of its kind in the world, was probably the most efficient of any.

Prefer Publicity To Exhibitions

The convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association yesterday afternoon adopted a recommendation by Prof. Buchanan of Ontario Agricultural College to discontinue display exhibits of the plant-breeding art, such as that arranged at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto. The change was endorsed by a special committee, which favored reliance upon publicity through newspapers and magazine articles, as reaching a larger number of interested persons.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A further $5,000 on account will be paid by city to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, it was decided by the City Council last night. This is part of the appropriation for advertising purposes for the year.

In the medical health officer's report for May Victoria maintained its low infant mortality records, with the death of only one viable infant. Three other deaths occurred where life could not have been sustained irrespective of the immediate cause of death.

The City Council has agreed to improve the cycle track at Royal Athletic Park, to put it into shape for use without delay, if $150 is gathered by associations interested in the use of the track. Last night the council voted $750 as the city's share of the work.

Permit to the Kinmen Club to erect a temporary monument at Belleville and Government was also granted by the council last night.

A gasoline service station is to be erected at the city side of the Johnson Street Bridge, permit for which was granted by the City Council last night on the application of R. F. Taylor and James Ellis. The station will be at the southwest corner of Johnson and Wharf Streets in a triangle strip of property at the waterfront and at the bridge approach.

F. Napier Denison, director of the Department of Meteorology, Observatory at Gonzales Hill, left last evening on a tour of inspection of stations connected with the service in British Columbia and Alberta. Mr. Denison expects to be absent from the city for about three weeks and during this time he will also visit Dominion and Provincial forestry centres at Kamloops, Nelson and Calgary.

Parts of two lots situate at the southwest corner of Simcoe and South Turner Streets will be sold to J. E. Johnson for the sum of $800, following ratification by the council of a lands committee report last night. Bribe inquiry was reported from the same corner, with considerable speculative building under way at this time, and increasing interest in all classes of downtown properties.

Following an agreement reached between the city and Peden Bros., the city's water bills will be printed by the latter firm free of cost for the next two years. Peden Bros. in return for the privilege of advertising on the back of the bills, will pay $100 per annum to the city. The cost of the printing will also be borne by them. The Chinese were followed Sunday night by the city police when lottery tickets and money were found in a Chinese fruit stall.

MACHINE AGE GIVES CAUSE FOR INQUIRY

Rev. W. G. Wilson Discusses Modern Industrial Methods Before Kiwanis Club

Rev. W. G. Wilson was the speaker at today's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Chamber of Commerce, dealing with the necessity of looking clearly at modern industrial methods and firmly dealing with conditions arising from the progress of material civilization.

After touching on the rapid strides taken by Canada since Confederation and the forthcoming Diamond Jubilee celebration, he drew attention to changes incident to new methods of industry. The day when the employer had personal acquaintance with his workmen has given way to the present factory system, with impersonal relations between employees of a great factory and the stockholders.

Many good points are to be seen in the present system, ranging from low cost of implements to automobile production, or replacement of the head carrier by the industrial elevator. Dr. Wilson showed that greater comfort and leisure is available to the man who works and the stockholder.

On the other hand the poorest citizen, in his opinion, is the wealthy man who invests his assets in bonds, puts himself out of the life of the country, spends his time traveling. He considered the wealthy man who helps develop industries, by providing financial support, a much preferable type of citizen.

There is a tendency to-day towards a vulgar display of wealth, and creation of dissatisfaction among the workers of the community. He pointed out that in the United States there are 500 families owning $200,000.00 each, while the other extreme, great poverty, is far more prevalent than it is in Canada.

EVIL TENDENCY

He feared development of a mental background tending towards civil warfare, and stated that the coal strike in England, about the Great War, which had, for the time, tied all British people in firm unity.

Of the industrial capital of the United States, estimated at $70,000,000, one-tenth is controlled by five interlocking directorates. Dr. Wilson had been assured that wide public holdings of stock in these concerns was a safety, but with this argument he disagreed, considering the ordinary citizen stockholder as a new-born child.

OLD TOO SOON

Dr. Wilson considered the present industrial system destroys the virility of the workers, monotonous repetition of machine processes making men old before their time. The advent of automatic machinery threatens to destroy the initiative of a man, to make him worse than a horse or a cow, which gets its meal and bed and is content, he argued.

"There is nothing more pressing for men who love their country, than that they inform themselves of the evil tendency of modern industrialism. We must have enough faith in ourselves to believe that what we have made we can unmake or make better."

In closing he suggested that men should try to demonstrate the interests of well-to-do and workers are identical. Capital and labor are able to destroy each other, he showed, but in the end the interests of both are identical. He said that the town where property gave place to backwardness following a severe strike.

W. M. Allan gave a humorous recitation, and the Kiwanis orchestra provided a musical programme.

GAUTHIER HAD NO AUTHORITY, SENATOR SAYS

Gauthier that great powers were being conferred upon him. It was just a business introduction. The senator said he was not a politician and he was not mentioned. He gave Gauthier only one letter.

In cross-examination by Mr. Twigg, Senator Bostock insisted that his proper designation was Senator for Kamloops.

"Have you been in communication with any person in regard to this matter since February 18, 1927?" asked Mr. Twigg.

"Not since I saw Mr. Pattullo the other day," said the Senator.

Mr. Twigg: "Did you not give an interview in March?"

Senator Bostock: "The Montreal Gazette printed something about the matter and I wrote them a letter."

The senator said he did not discuss the matter with Dr. Sutherland in the matter of the letter to Mr. Twigg. It might have been mentioned but was not discussed. Continuing he said he gave the letter to Mr. Twigg to Premier Oliver in November, 1926. Witness was visiting Vancouver and Mr. Oliver invited him to his room in the Vancouver Hotel.

He said he gave the letter to Mr. Oliver in his pocket and gave it to Mr. Oliver, who he presumed, wanted to know what association witness had with the matter.

Mr. Twigg read from the letter as represented in the affidavit. "Mr. Gauthier has said confidence in the matter of my arrangement." "The confidence of whom?" asked Mr. Twigg.

"The confidence of the people he represented," replied the senator.

"The purchasing agent," replied witness.

"You do not say so," said Mr. Twigg.

"No, but later it says orders will be confirmed by the purchasing agent," said witness.

"Do you not think this letter is rather vague?" questioned Mr. Twigg.

"It is not the same as the letter I gave him," said the senator.

"You designate that letter as what?" said Mr. Twigg.

"As not my letter I gave him," replied witness.

Mr. Twigg read a letter written by John R. Green, Victoria lawyer, acting for Gauthier, Senator Bostock claiming that Gauthier had not been reimbursed for his orders and expenditures on his trip to Europe and that the senator's reply telling him to get in touch with Mr. Buckham, who was anxious to hear from him.

"Why did you refer him to Mr. Buckham?" asked Mr. Twigg.

"Because Buckham was the man through whom he was introduced to me?" the senator answered.

Mr. Bostock appeared as counsel for the commission in the absence of W. H. Maclean, K.C. J. B. Pattullo, K.C. appeared as counsel for Dr. Sutherland and Mr. Buckham.

FINER SOLICITING BUSINESS ON BOATS

Annoyance to Passengers on Board Ship Must Stop, Rules Court

Soliciting patrons on board vessels for trolley rides must stop, Magistrate Jay ruled in City Police Court today, as he fined Sidney Sangster $20 upon conviction under the Canada Shipping Act.

Arthur H. Bird, purser of Ss. Princess Marguerite, and two members of the orchestra on board that vessel said the defendant had approached passengers on the ferry steamer and boosted the Blue Line trolley to them for Victoria drives at $1 a head. Defendant said he had previously warned of this offence, which the company wished to stop owing to the annoyance it caused the traveling public.

Miss Grace Thompson, and Miss Mary Weller, of Portland, Oregon, members of the vessel's orchestra, told of being approached by Sangster as the Marguerite was steaming from Vancouver to Victoria, and impounded in England. Sangster said he had no intention of taking their pictures and made some talk about a free ride in Victoria.

For the defence Sangster told the court he was just being sociable and had not intended to solicit business. Prior to the passage of the act the firm had employed boat runners, but now distributed folders and had no need to pursue the former course, he said.

Mr. W. J. Thompson, who testified that the firm did not employ boat runners, and said Sangster was acting without authority if he had solicited business on board ship.

The purser said he had no objection to the public and was illegal, ruled the court, imposing penalty.

DIAMOND JUBILEE FUND IS OPENED

On June 25 the Diamond Jubilee Committee will stage a tag day in the interests of the funds, hoping in this way to add a further $200,000 to the fund from which entertainment and a fitting celebration can be provided.

The third medium open to the public in the celebration which presents a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to commemorate the growth of an united Canada, is the placing of sublimation lists at four places in the city. Lists will be opened immediately at The Times, The Colonist, at the City Hall, and at the Diamond Jubilee Headquarters, 1107 Government Street. No sum is too small and none too large to be gratefully received, and each donation will be acknowledged as received.

FINANCING ARRANGEMENTS

The financing arrangements were promoted under H. G. Hinton, chairman of the finance committee. City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith is the treasurer of the celebration funds. Cheques should be made payable to the Diamond Jubilee fund.

A fourth source of revenue lies in the sale of window transfers, which in their smaller sizes are also finding favor for automobile and other mediums of decoration. With the enthusiastic support rendered since the opening of the Diamond Jubilee fund, the executive committee expect to close its books in this regard within the next ten days.

The ultimate festivities will be based entirely upon receipts in advance, whole-hearted co-operation by the public at this stage will ensure an outstanding success for Greater Victoria's Diamond Jubilee programme.

At 2:30 p.m. to-day the executive met to decide the winner in a cover design contest for the office program, and for which a $25 prize is to be awarded.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS MEET HERE TODAY

F. Lewin spoke on the amendments to the Succession Duties Act before the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters Association at the monthly luncheon of the organization in Spencer's dining-room to-day.

ated in the Canadian seed trade, asserting the seedsmen favor a cheap class of seed to be sold by drug stores, grocers and hardware stores, who prefer limitation of varieties.

Capt. Matthews pointed out that reduction of catalogue varieties would not limit seed varieties in any way. Time seed of one variety, grown by various producers from identical basic stock, would result in wide divergence in product, all being marketed under the same variety name.

President Strange pointed out that Capt. Matthews' views should be placed before the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, which authorizes varieties. The Seed Growers' Association deals only with production of seed from registered stock. He saw merit in the objection raised, but believed the remedy did not rest with the seed growers.

PROGRESSING WITH CARE

George A. Robinson sketched the cautious progress made in recent years by Vancouver Island seed growers in developing production of a limited selection of vegetables from stock seed supplied with the co-operation of the Provincial Government.

EXPERTS THANKED

The convention passed unanimously a vote of thanks to officials of Dominion Experimental Farms and other institutions now working on production of an adequate supply of Canadian grown hardy elite vegetable seed.

DIVERGING DUTIES

Seed Commissioner Geo. Clark of Ottawa explained the difference between the duties of the Seeds Advisory Board, which sets standards for varieties, and the field of the Seed Growers' Association, which grants registration certificates for seeds grown commercially and complying with the standards assigned by the Advisory Board.

HARDSHIP ADMITTED

Lionel Taylor elicited information that foreign catalogues carry "novelty" varieties, which are in fact standard varieties under a trade name. Mr. Clark agreed that refusal of this privilege to Canadian growers was a hardship but pointed out that multiplication of variety names has become a nuisance and the Government of Canada is making every effort to reduce the practice. Under the present law there are over 2,400 variety names of vegetables, which have been reduced to 200 by careful classification.

Flower seeds are not now subject to this classification but the Horticultural Council is considering making the regulations governing vegetables apply to floral seeds also.

VICTORIAN INVENTS HOLLOW BUILDING INTERLOCKING TILE THAT INSULATES

One of the latest improvements in hollow building block or tile for wall construction has been patented by J. E. Barr, a local resident. The tile is a hard-burnt clay product taking the place of about six bricks and requiring much less mortar in setting to the design. An interlocking wall is rapidly built at a very low cost and is highly resistant of fire, dampness and decay.

The advantage gained is due to the combined hard-burnt and bar-lock feature, which intercepts the horizontal mortar bed, providing better insulation and speeds up handling and laying. Greatly reducing mortar and labor costs over other hollow tile.

During the past two years many important buildings have been erected in Seattle with the results and results in Canada. The tile is now being manufactured by the Gabriola Shale Products Limited, an licensee for western British Columbia, and Mr. Barr expects the tile to reach the British Columbia market shortly. The tile is known as the Barr-Lox tile, due to the bar-lock feature. Mr. Barr is very well known in sporting circles in the city.

Mr. MacNeill sought to introduce the affidavits of Kean and Albert G. Hodgson, solicitor of Mrs. Kean. Mr. MacNeill referred to the Hodgson affidavit re: a portion referring to the hearing before Judge Cayley being dismissed without costs upon the husband agreeing and stating in Court that he was able and willing to pay the wife voluntarily $20 per week.

Judge and counsel discussed at some length as to whether the appeal should come to the Appeal Court or the Supreme Court or whether the alleged contempt could be dealt with only in the court in which it was claimed occurred. Mr. Justice McPhillips asked why it was the judge of the inferior court ruled that contempt had been shown to the County Court when the County Court judge could have so ruled.

On the point whether the appeal against the commitment could be made to the Appeal Court Mr. Justice McPhillips remarked it would be a barbarous crime if a man could be

Woman Dropped Dead During Great Lindbergh Parade

New York, June 14.—One young woman dropped dead, a score of persons were injured in traffic accidents, nearly 100 adults and children were overcome by heat and at least 100 others required restorative treatment of a minor but emergency nature, in the great mass of humanity that jammed the streets when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was welcomed to New York yesterday.

More than 13,000 police and reserves were called upon to stem the tide of the pressing mob and oftentimes were compelled to use force.

Miss Millie Smith, twenty-three years old, succumbed to heart disease induced by the excitement of the celebration while watching the parade from the roof of an office building.

Canadian Football Eleven Have Great Time On Trip To N.Z.

Got up at 6 a.m. For Long Training Spells; Won Prizes at Fancy Dress Ball

Played Two Cricket Games and Lost Both, But Beat Suva Footballers 5-1

Manager Jimmy Adam Writes The Times About Reception in New Zealand

First mail dispatches from the New Zealand front, where the Canadian football team have been covering themselves with great glory, were received by The Times to-day from Alderman James Adam, manager of the fine bunch of boys this country sent away last month.

Manager Adam expresses himself in the highest terms of the personnel of the team and was delighted with the reception given in New Zealand. When the steamship Niagara, on which the team traveled, was nearing New Zealand, J. J. Coates, Premier of the Dominion, sent a wireless message to the Canadians, expressing a very warm welcome to the Canadians. This was the forerunner of a series of messages and functions, all with a view of making the Canadians feel right at home.

Manager Adam went right out to have the boys in shape for their games down under from the moment they got their wireless. In a letter from Suva, he refers to the training. Here it is:

"Just crossing the Equator and find it very hot. The trip, apart from these last two days, has been wonderful and the boys are standing it well. All hands are regular at meals, having their sea-legs now."

"We have been training hard ever since leaving Victoria. Realizing that many of the players were not in the best of shape, as shown in our exhibition games in Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo, I decided to set a schedule of training so that surplus fat might be worked off and wind improved. Many of the Eastern players had not been active for several months and, of course, needed conditioning. All who were not seasick were up at 6 a.m. every day and then followed plenty of running, skipping, physical exercises and the boys are keen to be in the best of shape and take an interest in the training. We played two cricket matches with Suva, losing both, although we lost by twelve runs, we gave the Niagara boys quite a scare. We were delighted to get a wireless this morning telling that Miss Woodman of Victoria did so well in the bathing beauty contest."

In a letter written after arriving at Auckland, Manager Adam had the following to say:

"Here we are, New Zealand at last after a most wonderful trip. The night before we arrived at Suva we had a fancy dress ball and the Canadians turned out 100 per cent. The boys entered into the spirit of the affair in great style and the winning prizes came our way."

"We reached Suva on May 20 and, after an early breakfast, were taken for a long drive as the guests of the Football Union. We saw some wonderful scenery and visited several native villages, which were very interesting."

Early in the day, before it got too hot, we played a game with Suva and the Canadians turned out 100 per cent. The boys entered into the spirit of the affair in great style and the winning prizes came our way."

"We arrived at Auckland on May 23 and, while the Niagara was still in midstream, the soccer officials of New Zealand came out at 6 a.m. on the customs launch to extend a welcome to us. We had an official photograph taken on landing."

"The Auckland Rotary Club met the boat and after a short drive landed us at the Albert Hotel. The mayor and councilors of Auckland gave an official luncheon and extended a most hearty welcome to us."

"We had a workout at the new soccer grounds at Blandford Park, after which we had a look around the city and then made ready to leave on our swing through the South, arriving back in Auckland two months later for four games in this district."

"We have added another game to our original schedule. While nearing Auckland we had a wireless message asking if we would play an exhibition game at 'Ploek House,' an orphanage home for boys whose fathers were lost at sea during the Great War. 'Ploek House' is about fifty miles from Wanganui by motor. The team, however, is fit and in fine physical shape and I confidently expect that they will give a good account of themselves."

"I can only speak in the highest terms of the conduct of the boys under my charge and it has been a pleasure to be associated with them. Canada's crest assured that they will conduct themselves as gentlemen both on and off the field and will bring credit to their country."

Bobby Jones After Great Start, Falters, and Scores 76; Ted Ray Also Has 76

Oakmont, Pa., June 14.—Harry Cooper of Sacramento, Calif., formerly of Hamilton, Ont., wound up the first eighteen holes of the seventy-two-hole United States golf championship play-to-day with 74, two strokes over par, and gained a temporary lead over the field. Finding varieties of trouble after a flashy getaway, Bobby Jones, the defending title holder, scored 76. Cooper, like Jones, needed 39 to get home after going out in 35, two under par.

Larry Nabholz of Sharon, Pa., turned in a 75, entering the select circle of the moment with Cooper and Jones. He shot a 37 going out and 38 coming home.

Next in line was Ted Ray of Great Britain, former open champion of Great Britain and the United States, with a 76.

The game of Aubrey Boomer collapsed on the second nine when he required 45 strokes after going out in 38, only one over par. He had been rated among the threats. His score was 83.

Herbert C. Jolly, Great Britain, had 84.

Other scores were: Waldo Crowder, Shreveport, La., 75.

Cubs Provide Thrill In Keen Chase After Pittsburgh Pirates

With White Sox Temporary Out of Yankees Way Other Chicago Club Comes up

Cubs Now Within Game and Half of Leaders; Yankees Slug Out Another Win

New York, June 14.—With the White Sox turned back at least temporarily in their drive to oust the Yankees from the top of the American League, the Cubs, are making a spirited bid of their own.

A winning streak which has carried them to a game and a half behind the pinstriped Yankees was increased to nine games yesterday by a 6 to 2 victory over the New York Giants.

Washington has been had luck to the Chicago White Sox before and proved so yesterday in shutting them out, 10 to 6, for the third straight victory of the series.

A good exhibition of the violent way the Yankees usually win their ball games was given when they pummeled the Cleveland Indians, 14 to 6, on the wings of five home runs and ten other hits.

This time it was Feschel with two and Lazzeri, Dugan and Collins with one each that did the home run hitting.

The Athletics, on the upgrade, came close to the White Sox in ranking by beating Detroit, 7 to 1, while St. Louis displaced the Tigers at the top of the second division by beating the Boston Red Sox, 2 to 0, on the hitting and hurrying of Fitcher Vangilder. Incidentally, the Browns were the only road team to win yesterday.

Brooklyn suffered a defeat at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3. Paul Waner accounted for two runs in the sixth with a homer when a man was on base.

COAST LEAGUE

San Francisco, June 14.—The Seals trounced Seattle yesterday 13 to 4 in a game interrupted by frequent wrangling and chasing from the field of three members of the losing club. Killifer, manager, was the first to go. He disputed Umpire Hagerkurth's decision that Purdy, centre fielder, had dropped O'Doul's fly ball while holding it. Purdy claimed it slipped from his fingers, while he was trying to toss it to the left fielder, Ballenger and Eldred, coaching at first and third respectively, were ordered out in the next inning for shouting at the umpire.

Killifer said he would protest the contest to President Harry Williams.

DROVE STANDING WHEN SEAT BECAME TOO HOT

Imagine your car catching on fire while racing along at a rate of speed close to 100 miles an hour! That gave Norman Batten his thrill on Decoration Day while he was driving in the annual 500-mile speed classic at Indianapolis. This photograph shows Batten standing in the driver's seat. Note the flames at the rear of the speeding car. Standing up, Batten drove his car off the track. Batten was awarded a special medal for his courage in driving the car from the track and preventing it from becoming unmanageable and probably causing death to other riders or to spectators.

Pride of Lethbridge Bewildered By Fine Football of Scots

Steady, Smooth Combination of Tourists Impress Fans; See Fine Points of Game

Lethbridge, June 14.—The touring Scottish football eleven annexed another victory last evening when they defeated an eleven selected from Lethbridge and district, 4-0. At no time was the game in doubt, the Scottish displaying a class of football that fairly bewildered the local side.

Three of the goals were garnered in the first half. Cook scored after ten minutes of play and Muirhead beat Sawyer twice in the same period at thirty minutes and forty minutes. The first half was featured by steady, smooth combination on the part of the Scottish with no particular player standing out.

In the second half the play was not so one-sided, the locals presenting a strong and more aggressive front. Sawyer, in goal for Lethbridge, made many beautiful saves. This Fernie player was undoubtedly the pick of the Lethbridge team, playing a cool, heady game.

In this half the tourists showed the Southern Alberta "selects" the fine points of soccer, their back passing and effective combination between the half-backs and forwards being a source of delight.

The fourth and only tally in the second half was made by Simpson in the last three minutes of play.

Swimmer Drowned Training For Long Lake Ontario Swim

Belleville, June 14.—While training here for the Lake Ontario marathon swim to be held in August, Carl Eisenring, Swedish swimmer, drowned yesterday. He lost his life in trying to save Cecil Doddwell, who suffered a cramp while he was swimming with Eisenring. The latter is also thought to have become cramped from the cold waters and sank before help arrived. Doddwell was saved.

MRS. STEELE WINS IN LIFE SAVING; SCHOOL GIRLS DO VERY WELL

Ms. Steele, British Columbia's leading lady fancy swimmer, won the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club's trophy in the lifesaving competition held at the Crystal Garden last evening by a score of 115 points out of a possible 130 points. At that she was pushed to win, Miss Martin of St. Margaret's School turned in a fine score of 113 points. With a little more experience Miss Martin should be hard to beat in the future.

The outstanding feature of the competition was the excellent showing of the St. Margaret's School entrants who, with no previous experience in open competition, ran up several fine scores and gave a very fine display in the water.

The competitions were held under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the Royal Lifesaving Society. Mrs. C. W. McAllister and J. D. McNeill acted as judges.

The results were: Mrs. A. Steele, 115, V.A.S.C.; Miss Martin, 113, St. Margaret's; Miss Robertson, 108, St. Margaret's; Miss Hagen, 104, St. Margaret's; Miss Shelly, 98, St. Margaret's; Miss Doris Graves, 95, V.A.S.C.; Miss Alice J. Woodman, 93, Y.W.C.A.; Miss Race, 88, St. Margaret's; Miss McDonald, 74, St. Margaret's.

JOHN PROCTOR WINS

Toronto, June 14.—Excellent weather again favored the playing in the Central Ontario tennis championship tournament, on the courts of the Rushmore Lawn Tennis Club yesterday. G. W. Hewitt again played a "Marathon," and was only ousted by T. A. Sears in the third set, 10-8.

W. Martin, of Regina, appeared for the first time on local courts. His play was very impressive. John Proctor, from Victoria, showed what he is capable of in defeating C. T. H. Carson, 6-0, 6-0.

CANADA'S HOPE

JOE WRIGHT JR.

Canada will have a special interest in the Diamond Sculls at Henley this year, because Joe Wright Jr. of the Toronto Argonauts, is now on his way there to row. In view of his recent performance at Philadelphia where he broke the world's record for the American Henley course, rowing circles believe he has a good chance of winning the Diamond Sculls.

He was second to his team mate, Joe Harris, whose average was .441. He has hit in seventeen consecutive games.

The schedule for the Intermediate Lacrosse League has been drawn up, and as there are only two clubs competing this season, Sidney and Sons of Canada, the officials, decided that six home and home games would be enough. It is planned to work in a few exhibition games during the season.

The next game will be played on June 18 at the Royal Athletic Park and the fans are assured of a fast and snappy display of Canada's national game.

The schedule is as follows: June 13—Sidney at Victoria. June 23—Sons of Canada at Sidney. July 2—Sidney at Victoria. July 7—Sons of Canada at Sidney. July 16—Sidney at Victoria. They climbed the fence, and circled the dwelling. The front door was standing open, just as they had left it. Bodey looked into the hall. Nadine, beside him, let out a little cry. A man was lying on the floor, his face covered with his arm, his feet toward the doorway.

CHAPTER X
"Our watchdogs," remarked Bodey, with a heavy kick at the sole of the sleeping man's shoe.

The sleeper sat up with a jerk, revealing the features of young Smith. "What are you kicking me for?" "For exercise," said Bodey. "What do you mean, going to sleep when you're supposed to be on watch? Has Pierce got out of that room?"

"I don't know," said the boy, turning and blinking toward the closed door. "Has he?"

A voice came from within the room. "Pierce's voice. No, I haven't. Is Nadine there?"

"I'm here, Charlie," she called. "Are you all right? His tone was anxious."

"I'm tired, and I've got overalls on," she answered, leaning toward the keyhole. "Do you want to get out?"

"Of course I do. But how am I going to do it?"

She turned and consulted Bodey with her eyes. He came nearer the door.

"Mr. Pierce," he said. "Yes—confound you!"

"You'll have to stay locked up until I get the barn ready. Is that satisfactory? What's the matter with you, anyhow?"

A heavy kick resounded on the door. "You know mighty well it's not satisfactory. What's the matter with you, anyhow?"

Bodey sighed, and spread his hands as he appealed to Nadine. "Some people are never satisfied, no matter what you do for them," he said. "Here I'm fixing up a special place for him, and turning out the horses to do it, and still he grumbles! Is that nice, Miss Rollins?"

"You think you're funny," came Pierce's voice from within.

"Charlie!" This was Nadine. "It doesn't do any good to scold. He'll only keep you in there longer. Try to be pleasant."

There was a brief silence, in the course of which Smith slowly arose from the floor, and yawned. It was he who spoke next.

"If I was doing this, I'd knock his block off," he observed.

"Who's talking?" came Pierce's angry voice. "If it's that fat slob, I'll give him a trimming as soon as I get out."

"Ya-ah!" Smith mocked. "You'll do splendidly, won't you?"

"Maybe he will, son—maybe he will," said Bodey. "Now let's go out and fix up his boudoir." He beckoned to Nadine, and the three went through the house, and out to the little brick building in the rear of the yard.

The man inspected the interior carefully, the girl beside him, while Smith remained outside, propped languidly against the wall.

"An active young fellow can pry his way through the roof," said Bodey. "Look at those shingles!"

The shingles were soft and curled with years of exposure, and cracks of light showed between them. The rafters were solid enough, but a man could force his way through the thin slabs of soft wood that covered them.

"It won't be healthy for him to stay in that dark room all the time," continued the man, argumentatively.

"If you take the iron bar down, and those two brackets, he won't have anything to stand on, and he can't reach the roof," Nadine suggested.

"Just listen to the assistant-jailer! But your head's level," he said. "Smithy, yet your crowbar."

The boy came in presently with the crooked, heavy tool, and in five minutes the cross-iron, and the rusted brackets were gone.

"What'll we do with the hay?" asked Smith.

it there," objected the boy. "Can't we make him move it for us?"

"A good thought, but not practical," Bodey adjudged. "It'd be more work keeping him in order than it would to move the hay."

"Can't we leave it in there and make him sling out some of it every day, for the horses?" proposed the boy.

One of the animals came up from a corner of the yard, where it had been grazing, and looked inquisitively at the girl. She patted its muzzle.

"Poor old thing, having to work so hard!" she said.

"Him? He don't work—not very much," said Smith.

"How about this hay?" Smith kicked at the lower edge of the pile that filled half the old milk house.

"Couldn't you cut a hole in the door, and let Charlie push some of the hay through, when the horses want to eat?" Nadine ventured.

"No so bad—except that the pile's so big inside there, he could stand on it and reach the roof. Too dangerous," Bodey rubbed his chin. "Wish there was a woodshed. I think there was one, once, and that somebody's burned it for firewood." His eye was on the fence next to the hedged pasture. "Think I've got it," he said. "See those old planks? We don't need the fence, but the board'll make a bully roof for the hay. We'll stick up some uprights, and nail the boards across the top."

"Who'll build it?" Smith wanted to know.

"You and I. Who did you think?" inquired Bodey.

"I might just as well be back home," Smith's expression was gloomy. "Nothing but some kind of work going on here, all the time."

"Go on home then, if you'd rather," advised Bodey.

"Aw, rats!" Smith kicked the wall of the milk house, dejectedly. "You know I can't go home."

"Then brace up and act like a human being," said the man. "You're safe here, and it won't hurt you to make things a bit easier for the rest of us. Quit scowling and yank some of those boards off the fence!"

The boy groaned, and possessing himself of an axe which leaned against the side of the building, he lounged across the yard and began deliberately to knock the old planks from the posts that held them.

Nadine had been listening to the men with bright attention. Now she stepped inside the building, and spoke confidentially to Bodey.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Fuzzy Rock

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
By HOWARD E. GARIS

One day Uncle Wiggily's glasses fell off his nose and broke. No, no, if you please! His nose didn't break—just his glasses.

"Oh, dear me! Now I can't see to go adventuring!" sighed the rabbit gentleman. For, though he did not wear glasses every day, this Tuesday was one of the times when he needed his spectacles to look for jolly adventures in the woods and fields.

"I am going downtown shopping," said Mrs. Longears, as she helped her husband pick up the pieces of his glasses. "I will have them mended for you. What about my adventures?"

"But what about the bunny?" Must I stay sadly asked the bunny.

"Ha! That isn't a bad idea!" said Mr. Longears.

In the bungalow until you get back with my mended glasses!" "Can't you see well enough to hop around?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Yes, but I can't see well enough to pick out adventures," answered Mr. Longears. "If I had some one to go with me to tell when an adventure was coming—"

Before the bunny uncle had a chance to say anything more, Jingle and Jangle and Baby Bunty, who were the last to leave for school, piped up and cried: "We'll lead you to adventures!"

"Ha! That isn't a bad idea!" said Mr. Longears. "But if you stay home from school to lead your half-blind Daddy adventuring, what about your lessons?"

"Oh, we are so smart at our lessons!"

that staying home one day will not make us miss much," said Baby Bunty. "And we can study twice as hard to-morrow," added Jingle. "All right," chuckled the rabbit. "That suits me. Come along! Adventuring we shall go!"

So he hopped out of the bungalow, holding Jingle and Jangle by the paws, while Baby Bunty ran on ahead to look for adventures. Mrs. Longears went shopping and Nurse Jane gave the breakfast dishes their bath.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped Uncle Wiggily and the little rabbits. Mr. Longears could see well enough not to stumble and fall, but he couldn't have picked out an adventure if some one had held it under his pink, twinkling nose so much did he need glasses that day.

"Well, don't you see any jolly adventure yet?" asked Mr. Longears after they had hopped around for half an hour.

"I see two June Bugs in a little green moss house," said Baby Bunty. "I had the adventure yesterday," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"I see some lace handkerchief flowers growing in the field," called Jingle. "I had that adventure Saturday," her daddy replied.

"I see a nice big toadstool," added Jangle. "I see a nice big toadstool," added Jangle.

"Your brothers Toodle and Noodle had an adventure with Mrs. Hop's toadstool on Friday," said the rabbit gentleman. "Try again. Surely there must be an adventure around here. If I only had my glasses!"

Then Baby Bunty shouted: "Oh, Uncle Wigi! I see a big, fuzzy rock over in the middle of the field! Maybe that's an adventure!"

"A fuzzy rock, what do you mean, Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily trying to look where the little rabbit pointed. But without his glasses he could see nothing but a big, brown shape.

"It's a rock," reported Bunty, "and it looks as if fuzz was growing on it—black and brown fuzz."

"She means moss, I guess!" said Jingle. "I guess so," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Well, we'll hop over and sit on the fuzzy rock and maybe an adventure will happen."

So they hopped over and sat down on the fuzzy rock, and when Uncle Wiggily felt of what he thought might be brown moss he exclaimed: "Why, it feels just like fur!"

And then, all of a sudden, it seemed as if that fuzzy rock turned a somersault in the air. Uncle Wiggily with the three bunny children were spilled off and a voice growled: "Who is trying to sit on me?"

"Bless my pink nose! It's Mr. Stub-jingle."

"The daddy bear father of Noddie and Beekie; isn't it?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he heard the voice.

"Ha! Ha! That's who it is!" laughed Mr. Stub-jingle. "I curled up and went to sleep in the field, and the first I knew somebody came and sat on me. I was so surprised I jumped up."

"We thought you were a fuzzy rock!" explained Bunty.

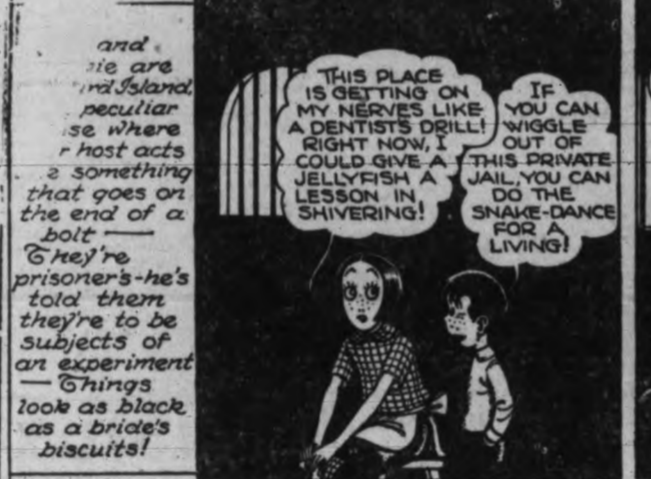

Then they all laughed and Mr. Longears said it was as jolly an adventure as he had had in a week.

So if the clothes horse will kindly not run away with the cap that the jumping jack bought for the head of cabbage, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's rush lights.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and would not be without it now. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk and I was all run-down and could hardly get around to do my house-work. I would be in bed three or four days at a time. I was told by a friend to try your Vegetable Compound, I did, and by the time I took two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took ten bottles in all, and now I am all right again and doing my own work. I have six grown-ups to work for, so I have plenty to do. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I think it is good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think if more of it was used women would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost more money."

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition. (Adv.)

CITY TO CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR INDUSTRIAL CHIEF

Successor to Roger D. Pinneo
Will be Difficult to Find, it is Believed

City Sensing Results From Spadework Done by Former Industrial Commissioner

Applications for the post of industrial commissioner to the city of Victoria will be called by the City Council within the next few days, by advertisement in the press. Applicants will be asked to state what salary they would require, and their qualifications for the post, vacated by Roger D. Pinneo on his appointment to the position of manager of the Seattle Merchants Exchange.

High tribute to the work done by Mr. Pinneo was paid by Alderman H. C. Holmes, chairman of the industrial committee, and by council members last night. When the Pinneo reports were studied at greater length it would be realized that he had laid the ground work which would be used by the city to push through to action. Mr. Pinneo had done the spadework of the city's industrial drive and had covered ground that now awaited seeding to bear abundant fruit, stated Alderman Holmes.

The council spent an hour of its time last night in consultation with a representative of Montreal capitalists, actively interested in some of the data the city has prepared through the as-stance of Mr. Pinneo. Another project, the motion picture industry, is reaching a head and may go to an early vote of the people. Two new incorporations have recently been put through to cover activities recommended by Mr. Pinneo, while a number of major projects are nearing a point where the ratepayers may be asked to vote upon them.

It would be a difficult matter to find a successor to Mr. Pinneo, but the only way to attempt it was by means of open application, the council decided. Alderman Marchant thought the council would be well advised to stipulate what remuneration it would be willing to pay, but did not carry the point. The decision to advertise for applicants without binding the city to accept any name received then carried unanimously.

Canadian Seed Growers'
Convention Enjoys Yearly
Celebration

Presentation Made Dr. George
Clark of Ottawa by Association Members

Over one hundred delegates and ladies, attending the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, last night enjoyed the annual convention dinner held at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, with Dr. D. Warnock, O.B.E., Deputy Provincial Minister of Agriculture, acting as chairman.

Welcoming the delegates to Victoria and the first visit of the convention to British Columbia, Dr. Warnock expressed the hope that the convention would again be held in Victoria within a very short period. He congratulated Alberta farmers on the honor won by Herman Trolle in obtaining the world championship for wheat at the international hay and grain exhibition last winter. He was confident that few years would pass before British Columbia attained a like honor, recalling that it is only a few years since prominent citizens publicly protested against spending public money upon opening up the Western Prairies to settlement by farmers, the territory of Alberta being then considered only fit for cattle and horse raising.

BASIS OF PROSPERITY
B. C. Nicholas pointed out that Canadian prosperity rests fundamentally upon agriculture, this having provided more than one-half Canada's exports and proved a vital factor in making this nation the seventh wealthiest in the world.

Indicating the basic value of agriculture to a nation, Mr. Nicholas cited the history of France. He pointed out that France has passed through more trials than any other nation. In 1870 Bismarck imposed a war indemnity, calculated to permanently cripple her. That was paid off in less than five years. France had suffered more than any nation in the Great War, yet is now on the way to recovery. This was entirely due to her thrifty peasantry.

The speaker pointed out that the statesman of the United States alarmed at the change in population in recent years, with access of town residents and denuding of rural districts. This condition has caused a strong campaign to induce people to take up agriculture. He considered that lack of balance between urban and rural population leads to anarchy and dissatisfaction.

CANADA WELL BALANCED

Mr. Nicholas stated Canada to be in a happy position, with the majority of her people engaged in primary industries. Development of a spirit of Canadianism he stated to be an essential matter, especially important because of the influence exercised by its friendly neighbor having 120,000,000 people. This can be resisted only by erecting a strong rampart of Canadian individualism. This seed, he said, can particularly be sown this year, when Canada is celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

Mr. Nicholas forecasted that in the coming years Canada will derive a considerable percentage of her population from foreign sources, and special efforts must be put forth to Canadianize them.

PRESENTATION MADE

Major H. G. L. Strange, president of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and winner of high honors at Chicago last year, welcomed Seager Wheeler of Rosthern, Sask., and Sam Larcombe of Birtle, Man., as master of ceremonies, pointing out, in humorous terms, that while men are given public approval for achievements bringing fame, the credit should really be accorded the wife, who aids and encourages her man towards success.

He then presented Federal Seed Commissioner G. H. Clark of Ottawa with an illuminated address, testifying to the appreciation of the seed growers, together with a gold watch chain.

Mr. Clark, in reply, recalled his twenty-seven years of public service and stated that his chief interest has been the constructive work being done by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association. He believed the progress of Canada, as witnessed in twenty years' time, will surprise the people of the world. The soil and climate of Canada will produce the finest seeds, and he foresaw the day when British Columbia and the Prairie Provinces will be the seed fields of North America. Northern-grown seed has been found to possess greater energy and is in rapidly growing demand in the other parts of North America.

POPULAR VETERAN

Sam Larcombe of Birtle, Man., introduced as "the grand old man of Canadian seed growing," was greeted with cheers and the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Replying, Mr. Larcombe spoke optimistically of the future of Canadian seed growing. In delightfully humorous vein, the veteran told of experiences in England, his address closing with a happy reunion and tableau with the youthful ladies of the dancing ensemble, to the huge delight of the gathering.

President Archie Muir of the Junior Chamber of Commerce briefly spoke, welcoming the visit of the seed growers to Victoria. The junior chamber had co-operated in preparation of the unique programme of entertainment, which included soprano solos by Miss Eileen Bennett of Victoria, tenor numbers by C. W. Leggett of Calgary and a group of singing and dancing girls, including the Misses Mimi Rudock, Evelyn Mac Parke, Jessie Rudock and Dorene Davis. Miss Margaret Adams accompanied the dancers in their numbers.

WAR'S AFTERMATH
HIT SEED GROWERS

Infant Canadian Industry
Hindered by Foreign Competition

Progress Resumed To-day on Basis of Quality, Dr.
Boving Shows

"Properly grown and collected Canadian-grown seed of root plants, when put to comparative tests with seed from lands long established in the industry of raising roots, have in all cases outyielded the foreign seed in the amount of dry matter produced," Professor P. A. Boving of the University of British Columbia yesterday afternoon assured the convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, in progress at the Empress Hotel.

Professor Boving showed that considerable progress has been made in production of vegetable and root seeds in recent years. The termination of the war found a large and growing production of Canadian-grown seed, but lack of support and tariff protection stunted the infant industry.

COSTLY PATRIOTISM

"However patriotic a man may be, he tends to become discouraged when, after devoting acreage to a new industry, he finds in place of the expected profit that he has a heavy deficit to face," Professor Boving pointed out. He remarked that no criticism should be laid against the commercial seedman for restoring pre-war connections, "when better home-grown seed has always out-yielded imported seed."

Referring to the appeals to the Federal Government for aid, Professor Boving pointed out that these requests should be regarded from the aspect that the farmers concerned had entered seed growing at the urgent request of the leaders of the nation.

PLACE QUALITY FIRST

He could see no immediate possibility of under-selling foreign competition, larger production per acre in British Columbia being offset by heavily increased costs. He urged reliance upon quality, and concentration of effort upon education of the public and the seedsmen to the needs of the public.

Professor Boving urged production of established recommended varieties rather than development of new varieties. "When the average seed catalogue has been belled down to one-tenth, a great step in advance will have been taken," he said.

"While we have made mistakes, I have great confidence in the future of seed growing in Canada and in British Columbia. Seed growing is a very young industry in this country and there is always hope for youth in this world," he said in closing amid applause.

H. E. Hallwright moved a vote of thanks to Professor Boving, and President Strange, when putting the motion, stated the address to have been the finest heard at any recent convention, and applicable to all branches of seed culture.

G. M. Stewart, Dominion District Seed Inspector for Alberta and British Columbia, concurred in the remarks of Professor Boving.

SOVIET DEATH SENTENCES

London, June 14.—A Reuter dispatch from Ottawa says eleven persons charged with espionage in behalf of Roumania were sentenced to death by Soviet authorities. Three others were sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, while two were acquitted. Besides the charges of espionage brought against them, the dispatch adds, they were accused of having helped fugitives from the Soviet authorities to escape across the Roumanian border. It is stated the majority pleaded guilty to the charges against them.
